NIXON SLOWS DESEGREGATION

CONFERENCE TODAY . . .

Deadlock Broken On Postal Pay Bill

Washington (AP) — A three-month congressional deadlock over a postal pay boost was broken Tuesday amid high optimism the week-old postal strike was almost over.

Chairman Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., ending his firm refusal to work out a pay bill without a pledge from President Nixon not to veto it, scheduled a House-Senate conference on pay bills for Wednesday.

But McGee said Congress should consider no final bill until Labor Secretary George P. Shultz works out a settlement with the postal unions.

"Even in this election year we should not try to run away with the ball at the risk of wrecking negotiations downtown," McGee told newsmen.

Tuesday night Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said the strike had essentially ended and he invited union leaders to meet with him Wednesday afternoon in efforts to negotiate a settlement to the pay dispute. (More on Page 2.)

"We don't intend to precipitate any quickie legislation which might harm these negotiations," McGee said after learning of Blount's agreement to meet with union leaders.

Earlier Tuesday James Rademacher, president of the AFL-CIO National Association of Letter Carriers said of the postal employes "They're back at work, and demand that talks with the administration begin immediately."

Facing the House-Senate conferees are a Senate bill that would boost all federal workers' pay at least 7% and a House bill that would give postal workers 5.4% in addition to a general 5.7% increase for all federal employes.

Deadlocked 3½ Months

The House and Senate have been deadlocked since the Senate passed the bill Dec. 12.

The House bill, which met the postal unions' major demands before the strike, would also step postal workers up to full pay in eight years. That now takes 21 years.

McGee said the House's 11.1% — which would boost postmen to a range of $6,794 to $9,286 a year from the present range of $6,176 to $8,442 a year — is a reasonable figure but said it remains to be seen whether Congress will go that high.

McGee said he will not agree to Nixon's plan, already approved by the House Post Office Committee, to tie the 5.4% postal pay increase to a postal corporation bill.

Water Shortage Plagues Farms

. . . LOAN SOUGHT FOR NEW DISTRICT IN PAWNEE COUNTY

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Pawnee City — It is rather surprising to see the family washing machine stored in a farm building, but this is just what one finds at the Dale Mach farm three miles east and one-half mile north of here.

The Machs can't use their washing machine — their well doesn't produce enough water

Moreover, the Machs are no exception in Pawnee County, where prayer for more water is common.

More Important

Pawnee County rural residents have fought the water shortage problem for generations, but it has worsened as the demand for more livestock becomes increasingly important to the farmer who wants to stay on the land.

Why don't the residents do something about it?

They have.

Clark Hunzeker, Pawnee City farmer and chairman of Pawnee County Rural Water District No. 1, tells how 380 rural users and the community of Pawnee City, Steinauer, DuBois and Burchard have teamed up to form a water district.

Problem Is Loan

The problem is a $1,200,000 loan needed to complete the project, and the bottleneck of water district applications in Washington at the Farmers Home Administration leads Pawnee County rural residents to wonder how long they can hold out until funds become available.

Down the road from the Mach farm is an empty set of farm buildings: the family moved out recently because there wasn't enough water available to keep livestock.

The case is not unusual; water district officials point to countless farms in the county where the story is the same.

One alternative has been for farmers to attempt securing the water from three to five wells on different farms and to spread out their livestock in small numbers.

But this plan is failing and farmers are wearing themselves out running around doing chores.

As Albert Christensen of Pawnee City, vice president of the water district, says, "We just have to get water for more livestock because that is the very basis of our economy and keeping in business."

Toured Area

Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, state administrator of Farmers Home Administration, and Jack Schuetz of Lincoln, Nebraska representative for Sen. Roman Hruska, recently joined Pawnee County Water District officials for a tour of the area.

When the tour stopped at the Mach farm, the owner told Bowen, "The wife is in town washing clothes. We never used our washing machine because we have never had enough water."

For house use, Mach makes a donation of $4.50 per 750 gallons to get a delivery from the Pawnee City Fire Department.

Mach said he would purchase a great deal more water than he gets "if it were available."

More Being Hauled

Ellis Dovell of Pawnee City, secretary of the water district, says an indication of the need for water can be seen in the figures: so far in 1970, what he calls a normal year, nearly half as much water has been hauled to farms as was transported during all of 1969.

While the total cost of transporting water some 270 miles (and to the 380 rural users plus the four communities) would be about $1.2 million, the eventual results of the program bring a ray of hope to the county.

"Just a slight increase in water supplies could mean an extra $10 million in county income . . . we have the people who are anxious to expand in hogs, cattle and poultry, but they have to have water to do it," said one Pawnee County resident.

"If the nation is really interested in rural development, there isn't a place better to start than making water available. Doesn't it look like we should qualify for a loan?" asked Arnold Weigert of Pawnee City, a water district director.

Will Be Complete

Schuetz, chairman of a water district himself, said his report to Hruska would be "interesting and complete."

Bowen described the trip as an "eye-opener."

It is common knowledge that applications for water district loans are in abundance and funds are limited.

"We in Pawnee County truly believe that our problems are of a magnitude that if need is a basis for a loan, we should qualify," said Hunzeker.

Federal Effort De-Emphasized

. . . FAITH PUT IN LOCAL ROLE

Washington (AP) — President Nixon sharply limited Tuesday the types of school segregation he will act against. He proposed instead $1.5 billion over the next two years largely to upgrade the education of minority group children in racially isolated classrooms.

The President also de-emphasized the role of federal enforcement officers in favor of new reliance on good faith efforts by local officials to end school discrimination.

Nixon asserted that schools have been wrongly burdened with the major role in creating a multiracial society. The load must be shifted partially to greater opportunities in jobs, business ownership and housing, he said.

Nixon's broad-ranging review of desegregation history and prospects was contained in an 8,000-word statement.

The statement will shape future suits by the Justice Department and administrative desegregation actions by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Some Segregation OK'd

The President said segregation of pupils, North or South, solely because of residential patterns — de facto segregation — is permissible.

Segregation resulting from past law or official action — de jure segregation — "must be eliminated root and branch — and it must be eliminated at once," he said, quoting the words of a recent Supreme Court decision.

The President added that districts can retain pockets of true de facto segregation if they eliminate all vestiges of a formally dual system of schools.

Helps South

His interpretation of the law should benefit a number of large Southern cities that have a Northern pattern of predominantly black schools surrounded by black neighborhoods but a history of past segregation by law.

The President also made elimination of teacher assignment by race government policy for the entire nation.

The statement set no deadlines for action and did not spell out how the government would enforce its desegregation policy.

The President said he will ask Congress within three weeks for $500 million in new education aid for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

'Racially Impacted Areas'

It will finance "programs for improving education in racially impacted areas, North and South, and for assisting school districts in meeting special problems incident to court-ordered desegregation," he said.

The money, scheduled for an increase to $1 billion in fiscal 1972, would be reallocated from other areas of the domestic budget and "represents a further reordering of priorities on the domestic scene," the President said.

The money would go for new facilities and personnel needed in desegregated Southern systems and for enrichment and experiments in "interracial experiences" for de facto segregated schools.

The President singled out local officials for new responsibility in framing desegregation plans for their schools.

Up To School Boards

"Primary weight should be given to the considered judgment of local school boards — provided they act in good faith and within constitutional limits," he said.

The President said federal advice and assistance will be available to local boards. "But federal officials should not go beyond the requirements of the law in attempting to impose their own judgment on the local school district," he added.

"One of the mistakes of past policy has been to demand too much of our schools," Nixon said. "They have been expected not only to educate, but also accomplish a social transformation.

'Children Used'

"Children in many instances have not been served, but used —in what all too often has proved a tragically futile effort to achieve in the schools the kind of multiracial society which the adult community has failed to achieve for itself."

Nixon also reaffirmed his support for neighborhood schools and criticized recent court decisions that have required large scale busing for desegregation.

"Transportation of pupils beyond normal schools zones for the purpose of achieving racial balance will not be required," he said.

Batchelder Opposed Tiemann Proposals Most Of The Time

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Almost without exception, State Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha has opposed Gov. Norbert Tiemann's major legislative proposals during the past four years.

The clash of political philosophy which has pitted Batchelder against Tiemann during the governor's term of office will be carried directly to Republican voters in the May 12 primary election.

Backed by Old Guard conservative forces within the GOP, Batchelder is attempting to wrest the Republican nomination out of the governor's hands in the feature contest of the 1970 primaries.

Consistently Opposed

In the past two legislative sessions, Batchelder has consistently opposed most of the Tiemann program, a survey of the senator's final reading votes will show.

In 1967, Batchelder voted against establishment of the new sales-income tax system, the new program of general state financial assistance to public schools, merger of the Municipal University of Omaha into the University of Nebraska system, the proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 19, the state's first minimum wage law, establishment of a new program of state aid to junior colleges, even against the operational budget bill for the 1967-69 fiscal biennium.

In 1969, Batchelder voted against the state's first open housing law, creation of a Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission to undertake the first thorough study of the state's constitution in 50 years, issuance of the state's first highway construction bonds, establishment of a program of state aid to community facilities for the mentally retarded, the homestead tax exemption, the capital construction budget bill and the supplemental appropriations bill funding most new programs for the current biennium.

Crux Of Tax Reform

Those issues from the 1967 and 1969 sessions form the crux of the Tiemann program of tax reform, development of "quality education" at all levels and funding for improved programs in such areas as highway development and mental health and mental retardation care and treatment.

Batchelder rejected lowering the voting age for the second time in 1969 by opposing a constitutional amendment which would extend the franchise to 20-year-old's, and he turned thumbs down on a bill broadening the 1967 minimum wage act.

In other 1969 nay votes, Batchelder opposed major urban renewal legislation, state aid to nursing education, increased state aid to public schools, establishment of the new highway classification system, creation of the new law enforcement training center, establishment of a statewide system of natural resource districts and an increase in the state gasoline tax to help fund accelerated road construction.

Backed Few Plans

Among the few instances in which Batchelder supported key elements of the Tiemann program were his 1967 votes for establishment of a Department of Economic Development, repeal of taxes on intangible property and household goods and elimination of two state head taxes.

In 1969, he joined the governor in supporting creation of a new Board of Paroles, establishment of a conflict-in-interest statute and modification of the state formula for distribution of highway user revenue.

Other Batchelder votes of interest in the 1969 session were ballots favoring authorization for a city sales tax, tying sales and income tax rates together, providing for state assumption of most mental patient care costs previously borne by the counties, and enactment of the Budget Committee's basic operational appropriations bill.

Against Bargaining

Batchelder voted against the measure authorizing governmental employes to organize and bargain with government employers, against increasing maximum truck weight limits, and against Tiemann's proposal to create a new division of medical services within the Department of Public Institutions.

In his major head-to-head clash with Tiemann, Batchelder led a successful drive to override the governor's veto of Batchelder's own unlimited self-defense bill in the 1969 Unicameral.

Prior to Tiemann's assumption of office, Batchelder had opposed the 1965 state income tax law, later repealed by voters in a referendum vote, and urged approval of the "Liberty Amendment" to the U.S. Constitution which, in part, would abolish the federal income tax law.

Jen Who Knew Jesus

By JOHN J. STEWART

CLEOPAS, who walked with Him

"Abide with me; 'tis eventide . . . O Saviour, stay this night with me . . ."

Late Sunday afternoon two of the Christ's disciples, Cleopas and another, were walking forlornly along the road west from Jerusalem toward the village of Emmaus, some six miles away.

Their hearts were heavy with sadness at the death of the Master, and they found it impossible to believe the story of Mary Magdalene and other women who claimed to have seen Jesus that morning as a resurrected personage.

As they walked along pondering these things, "Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden that they should not know Him." He asked them, "What is it you're talking about, that you are so sad?"

In surprise Cleopas asked, "Art Thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass in these days?"

"What things?" He asked.

"Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, who was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people. And how the chief priests and our rulers delivered Him to be condemned to death, and have crucified Him." There was bitterness in Cleopas' voice.

"But we trusted that it had been He who should have redeemed Israel. And besides all this, today is the third day since these things were done . . ."

Cleopas and his companion were astonished when the stranger replied, "O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?"

He then explained to them the scriptures concerning Himself. And as they drew nigh unto their village they begged of Him, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent."

"And He went in to tarry with them. And it came to pass, as He sat at meat with them, He took bread and blessed it, and brake, and gave to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew Him; and He vanished out of their sight.

"And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while He talked with us by the way, and while He opened to us the scriptures?"

Cleopas and his companion rushed back to Jerusalem, to share with the apostles and others their glorious experience. The apostles refused to believe them. But Cleopas and his friend persisted in their account.

"And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you."

New York Times News Summary

Postal Worker Strike Begins To Fall Apart

(c) New York Times News Service

New York — The postal strike began to fall apart across the country Tuesday as workers returned to their jobs by the thousands. The major exception was New York City where striking carriers, clerks and mail handlers held firm, although it was reported that more workers went to the post offices than on Monday. (More on Page 2.)

Checks Won't Be Mailed

New York — The Social Service Department said it had passed the point of assuring delivery of the next welfare checks by mail and announced that the checks would be given out at welfare centers. The Social Security Administration said it still had a little more time, but if the strike continued it would have to decide how to distribute $2.6 billion in checks due April 3.

Deadlock May Be Broken

Washington — There were indications that the congressional deadlock over pay increases for the postal workers may have been broken. (More on Page 1.)

Troop Level To Be Halved

Washington — High-ranking government officials said American troop levels in Vietnam will be cut by over 50% in the next 14 months to coincide with plans to turn over full responsibility for ground combat to the South Vietnamese during the same period.

Sihanouk: Go Underground

Peking — Deposed Cambodian chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk urged his followers still in Cambodia to go underground. He promised them arms and military training to fight the "criminals" who ousted him. He asked Cambodians outside the country to go to Moscow or Peking and join his "national liberation army" or the "united national front."

Bombing Is Systematic

Jerusalem — Israel is conducting a systematic day and night bombing campaign against Egypt aimed at preventing the installation of new Soviet-made SAM3 antiaircraft missiles along the Suez Canal. According to Israeli military officials, the balance of military power in the area would be upset if the missiles became operational.

Nixon Makes Pledge

Washington — President Nixon pledged to eliminate officially imposed segregation in Southern schools, but said that until he had further court guidance he could not require the elimination of segregation caused by residential patterns. (More on Page 1.)

FCC Can't Decide

Washington — The Federal Communications Commission announced that after four years of study it still cannot decide which systems of space satellites for telephone and television use would be best or who should operate them. The commission gave American industry an almost open invitation to submit specific plans.

Picketing Limits Proposed

Washington — The National Park Service has proposed regulations that would require any protest group planning a demonstration in front of the White House to disclose two weeks in advance the arrest, indictment, conviction and jail records of all participants. The group would also have to list each persons previous demonstrations and whether they advocated violence.

Opponents Of Balaguer Seize U.S. Air Attache

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — Kidnapers of the U.S. Embassy's air attache threatened Tuesday night to kill him unless their demand for release of a score of prisoners was met by 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The attache, Lt. Col. Donald J. Crowley, 47, was seized at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday as he arrived in his car at a field on the western outskirts of the city to practice polo.

Informants said the abductors promised that Crowley would be released 10 hours after the prisoners were freed in front of a church in Duarte Plaza in the old Spanish colonial part of the city.

One report said 20 prisoners were involved. A later report raised the count to 21.

Crowley, the third U.S. official to be kidnaped in Latin America since September, was grabbed by four or five gunmen and taken to what the kidnapers said was a secret hideout in the city and guarded by 50 men.

LT. COL. CROWLEY

Kidnaped In Dominican

The kidnapers were identified as a group opposed to re-election of President Joaquin Balaguer. The government did not say whether it would give in to the demands, but high level officials began a meeting.

In Washington, diplomatic sources said the kidnaping may lead to precautionary reconsideration of a plan to hold a meeting of the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States in Santo Domingo on June 20.

Dominican troops ringed Santo Domingo and set up roadblocks after the kidnaping. The abductors said anyone arrested on political grounds after the kidnaping would be automatically added to the list of prisoners whose release was demanded.

His kidnapers described themselves as members of an organization called the United Anti-Re-election Command. Its name refers to its opposition to the re-election of incumbent Balaguer, the leading candidate for the presidential election in May.

Gomez In Jail

The command said that among those it wants released is Maximiliano Gomez, secretary-general of a pro-Chinese political group, the Dominican Popular Movement. Gomez has been in jail for two months on charges of killing an enlisted man in the army and wounding a police agent last April.

The polo field where he was seized was the site of the initial landing of U.S. troops who intervened in the 1965 Dominican crisis on the orders of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

JOE PYNE

Joe Pyne Dies Of Cancer

Los Angeles (UPI) —Joe Pyne, the acid-tongued talk show host who popularized the brutally frank exchange of opinions on radio and television, is dead of lung cancer at the age of 45.

Pyne, who had been under treatment for the past two years, died at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Monday night where he had been a patient for a month.

A heavy smoker, Pyne once said on the air he realized cigaretts might cause cancer but he would "rather take a chance than be a fat neurotic." He stopped smoking when it was discovered he had cancer.

Often ordering belligerent guests to "take a walk," Pyne presided over his syndicated television interview show from 1964 until last Nov. 29.

During those years, an outlandish variety of guests and members of the studio audience with a beef ran afoul of Pyne, who if not often lovable was always entertaining.

Pyne's guests tended to the left of the political and social spectrum and frequently were subjected to such Pyne rejoinders as "dingaling," "I think I've run into another nut" and "If your brains were dynamite, you couldn't blow your nose."

Pyne joined the Marine Corps after he was graduated from high school. He was wounded in combat on Okinawa during World War II and contracted a disease which eventually resulted in the amputation of his left leg.

He enrolled in a Philadelphia dramatic school after the war but then went into radio in Atlantic City, N.J. He arrived in the Los Angeles area in 1956 where he was heard over KTTV-TV and radio station KLAC.

Did Marijuana Figure In Massacre?

Washington (AP) — Some of the soldiers alleged to have perpetrated the My Lai massacre smoked marijuana the night before their unit went into action, a former sergeant told senators Tuesday.

Charles West, a 23-year-old Chicagoan, told a Senate investigating panel at least 60% of the members of Charlie Company, 1st Battalion, 21st Infantry Regiment, had smoked marijuana at least once.

He said many members of the 800-man battalion were chronic users of marijuana and smoked it regularly.

No Definite Link

West named no names. Nor did he tell of any incidents at My Lai or provide any definite link between what happened there and the use of marijuana.

He said soldiers involved in the alleged indiscriminate shooting that day — March 16, 1968 — included both marijuana smokers and those who never used the drug.

"I did not see anyone on the day of the incident smoking marijuana," West said.

"The last time I seen any of them smoking was the night before the operation," he said.

At that time, West said, he saw five men in his squad of 12 passing marijuana cigarettes, one to another.

Dodd Sees Link

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the juvenile delinquency subcommittee, said, as he has several times in the past, he believes there was a link between the use of marijuana and the incident in which at least 109 South Vietnamese men, women and children are believed to have been killed.

"I want to know if marijuana had anything to do with this incident," Dodd said. "And I think it did. I don't think American soldiers are murderers."

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said he was concerned that West's testimony might affect the outcome of the pending trials of 1st Lt. William Calley Jr., and other officers and men charged with murder and lesser crimes in connection with the alleged massacre.

Restraining Order

Cook read a restraining order sent by military authorities to West last November forbidding him to speak of the matter.

Dodd said he had been given a copy of the order by an Army colonel five minutes before the hearing started and said:

"I've had the impression that there are those who didn't want this hearing to take place."

But he said it is ridiculous for the Army to attempt to issue a restraining order to a civilian.

Nixon Displeases Some Civil Rights Workers

By The Associated Press

President Nixon's 10,000-word statement on desegregation Tuesday prompted comments from school administrators that more federal funds would help, but some civil rights workers said the President's plans were not enough.

"It sounds like an offer of the kind of encouragement we need-financial," said a spokesman for the Chicago Board of Education.

In Dallas, Ed Polk, director of a local legal services project, said, "It appears that the black people in this nation once again are not going to get desegregation from the White House, but from the courthouse."

In New York, Jack Greenberg of the NAACP Legal and Defense Fund said: "The statement that schools will not be expected to achieve 'the kind of multiracial society which the adult community has failed to achieve for itself' is a repudiation of one of the acknowledged purposes of education. The purpose of schools is to raise a generation according to our national ideals.

"Since the proposed $1.5 billion cannot be used in desegregation plans where busing is employed, and since busing is part of all the educational systems in the country, integrated or segregated, the main weight of the funds will be toward maintaining the segregated status quo."

"The one thing he (Nixon) must understand is that the separate but equal theory is a farce and an insult to black people," said Jesse Goodwin, NAACP education committee chairman in Detroit.

The NAACP field secretary in South Carolina, Isaac Williams of Charlotte, said, "It looks like another Nixon maneuver to pacify the South politically."

Postal Negotiations Are Set

By The Associated Press

The nation's historic six-day postal crisis appeared to be nearing an end Tuesday night.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount announced Tuesday night that the trend was encouraging enough to schedule a negotiations session with postal union leaders in Washington Wednesday afternoon.

Just after Blount's declaration, the Brooklyn local of the National Association of Letter Carriers voted to return to work Thursday.

Blount said Tuesday night: "Generally, what we have now is a return to work across the country. I'm very gratified."

Figures Outdated

Earlier, Blount had reported 115,000 of the nation's 600,000 postal workers still off the job, including 40,000 in New York, but these figures quickly became outdated as letter carriers' locals outside the metropolis voted one after another to go back to work.

The strike began with the 6,700-member Manhattan-Bronx local of the AFL-CIO National Association of Letter Carriers, whose president is Gustave Johnson. The union and Johnson were found guilty of contempt of court late in the day by Judge Frederick Bryan.

Bryan ordered the local back to work by 5 p.m. Wednesday. Otherwise, he decreed a fine of $10,000 for the first day of defiance, $20,000 the second day and so on upward at a rate of $10,000 for the first day of defiance, $20,000 the second day jobs.

The use of troops allowed a partial lifting of an embargo on mail coming into New York. Similar mandates blocking service into New Jersey and Connecticut were ended, as operations neared normal there. Most strikers also were back in a six-state New England area, and in Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

Huge backlogs of undelivered mail in the millions of pieces began melting away with an end to the strike in such key cities as Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Buffalo and Rochester, N.Y.

Ironically, one of those assigned to get the mail moving at the Brooklyn post office was Army Reserve Maj. Bernard G. Erlich. He is the lawyer for Gus Johnson, president of the 6,700-member Manhattan-Bronx branch of the letter carriers' union. It was this local that launched the strike at midnight March 17.

Tower Of Pisa Lean Monitored

Pisa, Italy (UPI) — Scientists said Tuesday that the gravity-defying Tower of Pisa has leaned another 1-32nd of an inch since last June.

The 179-foot high Romanesque tower which, according to an old Italian song, "leans and leans but never falls down," is now tilted more than 14 feet off the perpendicular.

Senate Passes Bill Making Polluters Pay For Oil Spills

Washington (AP) — The Senate approved Tuesday a compromise water pollution bill that puts direct responsibility on polluters to clean up and pay for massive oil spills.

The action, which came on a 80-0 roll call vote, was in contrast to the deadlock which kept House and Senate conferees working on a compromise for more than five months.

The compromise bill, which now goes to the House, sets an absolute liability on polluters of $14 million or $100 per gross ton of oil, whichever is less.

It also provides federal machinery to allow quick clean-up of oil, sets criminal penalties for willful negligence to notify authorities of an oil spill and includes unlimited liability for clean-up costs in cases of willful negligence or misconduct.

Child's Parents Turn Selves In

. . . Wanted In Daughter's Death

Cozad (AP) — Albert Dewey, 28, and his wife Priscilla, 27, who have been sought on manslaughter warrants issued in Custer County in connection with the death of their 2½-year-old daughter last Friday, turned themselves in to Cozad police Tuesday.

Police Chief George Jackson said they told him they had gone to Blackfoot, Idaho, looking for work, but had returned when they heard radio and television broadcasts saying they were wanted.

Jackson said Mrs. Dewey told him they had taken two children on the trip with them, but had left the 2½-year-old JoAnn with a friend. They said she apparently needed hospitalization. The little girl died in a Lincoln hospital Friday, having been taken to the hospital Thursday night. A note from her father authorized medical care as needed.

Lincoln police said an autopsy showed she died of a skull fracture but also had bruises on the body and face.

Jackson said the parents told him the little girl fell twice in the bathtub in their home near Merna and hit her head on the bathtub in the same place.

The police chief said Mrs. Dewey told him the two other children had been left with her sister in Cozad when the couple turned themselves in to Jackson Tuesday.

ICC Poked For Laxity In Boxcar Shortage

Washington (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., accused the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday of laxity in the national railway boxcar shortage. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., agreeing, suggested the agency should be eliminated.

The two, along with Sens. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., and Bob Packwood, R-Ore., testified before a Senate commerce subcommittee in favor of two bills aimed at alleviating the boxcar shortage.

Also testifying in behalf of the legislation were representatives of railroads.

In opposition to the proposed measure was George M. Stafford, chairman of the ICC.

Low Penalty Hit

Those favoring the legislation maintained that the root of the problem is insufficient penalty costs to eastern railroads that get freight cars owned by western roads and are then reluctant to return them, preferring to pay the penalty rather than lose available cars.

The problem has been steadily worsening for years, Curtis said, despite legislation in 1966 that concerned parties "were led to believe gave the ICC sufficient authority to solve the boxcar problem insofar as it relates to the refusal of eastern railroads to return cars to the western roads.

"The ICC has failed in its duty . . . it has failed to serve the public interest. It has proven itself to be unwieldy and ineffective, it's procedures are antiquated and it has forfeited its right to survive and should be replaced by another agency."

Mansfield, sponsor of one of the bills under study, said he did not believe that present penalties for refusal to return cars are sufficient.

'Drastic Increases'

The proposed legislation, he added, "would impose drastic increases in penalties and per diem rates. Some say such increases would be unreasonable but I firmly believe that the boxcar situation has gotten so out of hand that something must be done."

Irish Singing Star Is Sister Of Nebraskan

Londonderry, Northern Ireland (AP)—Ireland's newest singing star, 18-year-old school girl Rosemary Brown, made a transatlantic telephone call to her sister in Nebraska Tuesday.

Rosemary, who goes under the stage name of "Dana," won the prestigious Eurovision song contest in Amsterdam on Saturday.

After a boisterous homecoming welcome by a 6,000 crowd in Londonderry Monday night which degenerated into street fighting, Rosemary slept late at her home in the Roman Catholic Bogside District of the city.

Tuesday morning Rosemary called her sister Susan who is married to Ronald Keith Stein, a dentist, in Grand Island, Neb.

Rosemary used to sing duets with her 21-year-old sister and they haven't seen each other since Susan married and went to the United States three years ago.

Fremont Youth's Fatal Shooting Ruled Accidental

Wahoo (AP) — The shooting death of Terry Fullington, 14, of Fremont, has been ruled accidental by Saunders County Attorney Robert Sullivan.

The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at Dodge County Community Hospital Saturday. He had camped overnight in Saunders County with two other Fremont boys before the shooting incident.

Nebraska Elks Student Award Winners Listed

Chadron (UPI) — Winners of the Nebraska Elks Association most valuable student awards program were announced this week by Ross O. Sramstrong of Chadron, chairman of the Nebraska Elks Association leadership and scholarship committee.

Scholarships of $600 each went to Duncan Murphy and Judy Zaiman of Omaha; Jack Lawless of Cozad; Robert Wenger of Grand Island; Ann Henry of Lincoln; and Sally Johnson of Kearney.

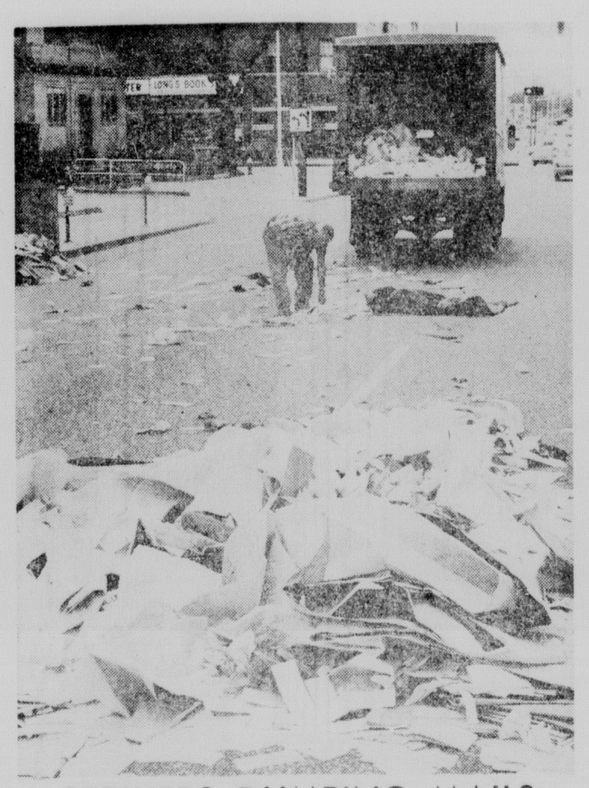
District scholarship awards winners were Glen Rider of Falls City; Mary Say of Norfolk; Ronald Jensen of Kearney; Debra Cronin of Burwell; Richard Alcorn of Chadron; and Judith Geiger of Cozad.

National Chief Of Young Demos To Speak At G.I.

Grand Island (AP) — The Nebraska Young Democrats will convene here for a three-day meeting beginning April 17, state President H. Joseph Farmer of Omaha said.

David R. Sternoff, national president of the Young Democratic Club of America, will address the group, Farmer said.

The Young Democrats will also decide which primary election candidates on the Democratic ticket to endorse and the club will elect new state officers for 1970-71.



STRIKERS DUMPING MAIL?

A strike by postal workers may have reached crisis proportions in some sections of the country, but the papers strewn across Ninth Street near the main Post Office building in Lincoln Tuesday morning had nothing to do with the postal issue. The mess that blocked three lanes of traffic in downtown Lincoln was merely a load of scrap paper which tumbled from a Salvation Army truck. Here, the truck driver begins picking up the paper. Lincoln police officers joined Salvation Army personnel in the clean up. (Star Photo)

Marathon Card Game At NU Due To Last For 144 Hours

Some 30 sixth-floor residents of Pound and Cather dormitories at the University of Nebraska are pushing themselves to the very limits of human endurance, seeking a niche in the record books, striving to attain the lofty heights of fame.

They are playing a 144-hour marathon hearts game.

Players rotate as their classes permit "to avoid mental exhaustion," according to Bernard L. Birkel, Cather-Pound coordinating chairman.

They come and they go, but the four-handed game goes on.

As of 11 p.m. Tuesday the game was in its 108th hour. East led second-place North by a tight four points, 7,840-7,844. Nip and tuck. South trailed at 8,092, but remained well within striking distance.

Why hearts? North paused to reply, "We couldn't go for the shower endurance record because the dorms get uptight about all that wasted water."

East paused between hands to review the statistics. Some 1,049 hands had been played, or 13,637 tricks comprised of 54,548 cards. The hearts and queen had been run 81 times.

A card had been played every 6.1106 seconds.

The action was due to end at noon Thursday to allow competitors to prepare for a well-deserved Easter vacation.

Was anybody getting any studying done? "Let's see if we can squeeze out the Black Lady," said South, leading a spade.

Virgillito Faces Murder Charges In Welsh's Death

Papillion (AP) — Sarpy County Atty. Dixon Adams filed a charge of first degree murder against Sam J. Virgillito, 36, of Omaha, in connection with the death of Leo Marty Welsh, 30, of Omaha.

Welsh died Sunday in an Omaha hospital. He had been shot four times on Feb. 16 while in a Sarpy County house.

Virgillito had been held in lieu of $10,000 bond on a previous charge of shooting with intent to kill, wound or main.

Sarpy County sheriff's deputies and Omaha police had arrested Virgillito in Omaha about four hours after the shooting.

Waldron Opposes UCCC Proposed Interest Rates

Callaway (AP) — State Sen. James Waldron of Callaway said he intends to oppose, "with all of my ability," the new interest rates proposed in the uniform consumer credit code (UCCC).

He commented following weekend disclosure that a legislative committee will be considering the UCCC recommendations for possible adoption in Nebraska.

Adopting the code for Nebraska "would be the same as legalizing stealing by lending institutions," Waldron said.

The code, if adopted, would increase ceilings on interest rates which various Nebraska lenders could charge.

"The impression that the backers of the UCCC are trying to give the committee and the public is that the UCCC must be adopted in its entirety, accepting the good with the bad," Waldron said. "This is not true. A state can accept any part of the UCCC and also reject the whole proposal. No state has adopted the entire proposal and the greatest controversy has been over the high interest rates.

"If the interest rates proposed by the UCCC were adopted, Nebraskans would have to pay some of the highest rates in the nation."

Testimony Is Completed In Manslaughter Trial

Nebraska City (UPI) — Testimony was completed Tuesday afternoon in the manslaughter trial of Al Rodriquez Solorio of Del Rio, Tex.

He was accused in the stabbing last Dec. 6 of Alfredo Yzaguirre of Nebraska City.

Solorio waived a jury trial. District Judge Walter Smith of Plattsmouth, who heard the case, said he would have a decision Thursday at 4 p.m.

Solorio, on the stand much of Tuesday, said the stabbing was an act of self defense after a fight broke out between the two men. The fight, he testified, resulted from improper suggestions from Yzaguirre.

Solorio said the two struggled for control of a knife and that he gained possession of the weapon and tried to run away but was struck on the head by Yzaguirre.

Solorio said he had several beers downtown with a friend on Dec. 6 and that the two met Yzaguirre and had several more beers before Yzaguirre took them home. He testified their vehicle got stuck near his home and a wrecker had to be called to pull the car out.

It was then, Solorio said, that Yzaguirre asked if he could stay overnight with Solorio and he agreed.

He testified the two went to bed and the fight broke out a short time later.

After the fight, Solorio said, he went downtown to the Pioneer Theater where he told friends and the theater manager what had happened. The theater manager called police.

Dr. H. W. McFadden Jr., Omaha pathologist who performed the autopsy, said Yzaguirre suffered 14 puncture wounds, including nine in the aorta and three in the heart.

In their final arguments the defense said Solorio killed in self defense, but the prosecution said he went beyond self defense because he stabbed several times.

Otoe County Attorney Bernard Spencer was the prosecutor. Solorio's attorneys were William Brandt of Unadilla, who was appointed by the court, and Mario Martinez of El Paso, Tex.

Spencer reduced the original charge of first degree murder to manslaughter Monday. He said evidence gathered since the preliminary filing did not warrant the first degree accusation.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When it comes to details, you can't beat the law. Take, for instance, an ordinance introduced to the City Council this week. The document comes under what you might call routine business, even though it has some importance to the homeowner.

The ordinance seeks to define certain words, those being "pruning," "removal," "spraying," and "tree." Now, you would think that one would hardly need to define such terms, that anyone would know what they meant.

That is probably true but the technicality is that the terms must be applied to all trees. As the ordinance now reads, they apply only to elms. Thus, the point is that to prune a tree means any tree, not just an elm.

That may not be exactly what you would call a definition but that's what is involved. The purpose is to protect property owners. The ordinance requires that anyone in the tree-pruning, spraying or removal business obtain a license from the city.

To get a license, he must pass an examination and have liability insurance in force. Thus, he must know at least a minimum about what he is doing and be financially responsible for any possible damage done.

This is to stop fly-by-night operators who might try to take advantage of property owners by offering a service they know nothing about. Also, such an operator could damage your tree or other property and be gone before you had the opportunity of any recourse.

If he were not gone, your recourse would be meaningless if the vendor were a financially irresponsible person. In other words, you couldn't collect from someone who damaged you if that party had no money.

It is a good thing that the city has the ordinance relating to tree work. This is an area of things where the average homeowner could easily be taken. If convinced that his valuable trees needed service, the homeowner is likely to go along with it.

But the homeowner generally has to take someone's word for it and it is well that anyone in the business have sufficient knowledge to properly advise in the matter. Also, if service is needed, more damage than good could be done.

A tree could be ruined by someone who pruned it at the wrong time or in the wrong way. It could be ruined by the wrong kind of spraying. And what a crime it would be to cut down and remove a tree that could have been saved.

This is the time of year when people become conscious of the trees and shrubs that adorn their property. Thus, there is a lot of susceptibility to the unscrupulous operator trying to make a fast buck. Property owners would be well advised to make sure, before having any work done, that the man with whom they are doing business is reputable and qualified.

In other action this week, the City Council agreed to place on the May 12 election ballot a proposal for eliminating the limit on interest on municipal securities. The rate limit would be eliminated on revenue bonds (now 7 per cent), special assessment bonds (now 6 per cent), registered warrants (now 5 per cent) and delinquent tax payments on special assessments (now 7 per cent).

Only the last one would affect taxpayers directly. Under that provision, the city could charge a higher rate of interest on delinquent payments on special assessments.

The other changes would benefit the administration of city government, allowing the city to obtain credit in the market place at whatever was the prevailing rate of interest.

Now, the city is greatly handicapped because the limits it can pay for credit are so low that it can get no credit. This is a ridiculous situation and voters would be well advised to approve the changes.

'Is NOTHING Sacred Anymore?'

Barry Buries Democrats

A few days ago in Valdosta, Ga., Sen. Barry Goldwater said that the national Democratic party was dead and that only in a few states, for example Georgia, where there is a strong father-figure such as Richard Russell, would the Democratic party remain as a viable political entity.

Although considerable comment on this page and from most of the nation's editors and political writers has concerned itself with the horrible state of the Democratic party currently, we don't understand what Barry is talking about, why he feels that that big political tent is about to fold.

It was just six years ago that Lyndon Johnson racked up the biggest popular vote margin in presidential election history and the Republican party—taken over by what at that time was viewed as an "extremist" minority — was doomed by the country's writers and politicians to the backwaters along with its standard-bearer, the senator from Arizona. His personal comeback and that of his credo and his party didn't take too long to accomplish. The Republican politics of 1964 are very much in evidence.

Sen. Goldwater and his colleagues in the GOP are obviously delighted with the status of the Democratic party at the present—indigent and in disarray — but they should be better able to read history. It has been suggested that in his speech at Valdosta, Goldwater was attempting to persuade Democrats to change ranks in a region that is sympathetic to the Republican cause, which, of course, he was.

But he shouldn't be allowed to get away with the statement that the Democratic party is dead. Badly hurt, maybe, but there are hopeful signs ahead for it which the Republicans can't overlook. And there is a precedent for comebacks.

Ruling Could Be Welcome

The U.S. Supreme Court may one day soon provide a useful tool for the American people. It could do this in deciding the legality of the Swedish film, "I Am Curious (Yellow)," from an obscenity point of view.

The court, of course, will make its decision on as firm a legal foundation as it can and nothing can or should be done about that. But the hope can be expressed that the court comes up with something by which obscenity can be measured.

To date, the measure generally falls on the question of redeeming social value but there is practically no measure, at all. The problem is that no two people can agree on what is or is not a redeeming social value.

If we were to hazard a guess, it would be that the high court would not add much clarity to the matter. While it may well decide one way or another on "Curious Yellow," it may do so in terms that leave the question of obscenity wide open on other subjects.

The right of free expression is one that should be carefully guarded but it is unfortunate that we have such difficulty saving that right from abuse. Outright pornography still is widely circulated in the nation and defies both the civil and moral laws of the land.

Surely there is some way that men can, in good faith and wisdom, retain the right of free speech and still protect citizens against the commercialism of those who seek to exploit immorality and indecency.

Perhaps this is asking for the best of two worlds and cannot come to pass but such a stalemate is difficult to accept. It is at least encouraging that the high court has accepted the "Curious Yellow" case and we can hope that out of this some progress might be made. Certainly, the vast majority of the American people would like to witness the establishment of some joint beyond which one cannot go without the risk of legal jeopardy.

Pollution Study

Lincoln, Neb.

We, the students of a Northeast modern problems class, have recently done research on the problem of pollution. We feel even though this problem is not presently a threat, in the near future it will directly affect the people of our community.

Pollution comes from three major sources — municipal, industrial and agricultural. Municipal and industrial pollute our air and water, and agriculture pollutes our soil.

We feel it is our duty to bring this problem to the eyes of the public to make them aware of the dangers involved, so pollution can be controlled before it becomes a serious threat.

Mr. Editor, it is through you and only through you that we as interested citizens can voice our opinions to the public. We plead with you to continue your publicity on pollution and continue the fight against pollution.

Plea For Trees

Lincoln, Neb.

Down by Gateway I saw that there were quite a number of trees missing. Then my mom told me why. Then it was my turn to talk and I said to her, why did they do it. She said, to make O Street bigger so more cars could get on it. I said, but the trees take carbon dioxide and put out fresh oxygen.

So will everyone please plant replacements?

Embarrassed

Baltimore, Maryland

I was mildly bemused, somewhat embarrassed and horribly appalled at the recent remark of Senator Roman Hruska concerning the Carswell nomination to the Supreme Court: "Even if he (Carswell) were mediocre, there are a lot of mediocre judges, and people and lawyers, and they are entitled to a little representation, aren't they? We can't have all Brandeises, Frankfurters, and Cardozos, and stuff like that here."

It seems, then, that Nixon and Hruska are not interested in establishing a southern conservative seat on the court. Rather, it is a mediocrity seat that is being proposed. Thus, it is only fair, it seems to me, that other long-unrecognized segments of the Silent Majority also be represented. Surely we must have a Supreme Court judge from the ranks of the very stupid. In the national interest, then, we should also have an alcoholics seat, a racist seat, and perhaps a paraplegic seat, as well.

Such comments, in the tradition of Kafka and Agnew, are unforgiveable from a man who is the ranking Republican member of the Senate Judiciary Committee. I could only be embarrassed, as a lifelong Nebraskan, to be identified with such a man. It is small wonder, indeed, that many people are becoming totally disillusioned with such mediocre politicians as Hruska, their ill-thought-out policies, and stuff like that there.

Spending Limit

Murdock, Neb.

I saw in The Star last week that the governor was warning about the 5% limited spending petitions, claiming this was a biennial figure and would limit the state government to 2.5% annually which wouldn't keep up with inflation. This was repeated in an editorial in the next day's Star.

I have been watching The Star since to see if anyone would write in to correct this bit of misinformation but so far no one has or if anyone has, The Star has not seen fit to print it.

The truth of the matter is that the biennial limitation of 5% would figure out on an annual basis of an increase of 5% the first year of the two years, and an increase of 4.7% "of the previous year" for the second year. Anyone who can figure simple interest can figure this out.

For simplicity's sake, let us assume that the last state biennial budget was $200. The 5% petition would allow an increase of $10 in the next two-year period without a vote if the people, or $5 a year.

Using the governor's figures, you would have to break the previous biennial budget down to $100 for each year. Figure this at an increase of 2.5% a year, and you would have an annual increase of $2.50.

There is quite a difference in what the petition would actually do and what the governor said it would do, isn't there? And especially when you multiply this by $218 million, which the governor says the state takes in taxes.

Only Eight

Lincoln, Neb.

The incredible headline in The Lincoln Star read: "Hruska Says Mediocrity OK," in reference to the Nixon appointee to the Supreme Court, G. Harrold Carswell, and this ensuing observation by Nebraska's representative in the Congress of the United States: "The President appoints these people and even if he (Carswell) were mediocre, there are a lot of mediocre judges and people and lawyers. Aren't they entitled to a little representation and a little chance?"

The dismal realization that ALL Nebraskans, with their feeble representation in Congress, have been deprived of even the mediocrity which Senator Hruska is willing to have imposed on the rest of the nation on the judicial level, gives cause to wonder at the caliber of the voter who has continued to return this man to Washington. Mr. Hruska's mediocrity came to fore when he attempted to challenge Hugh Scott for the leadership of the Republican party. His withdrawal from this contest was made to convey the impression that he did not wish to divide the disciples—when, in fact, he could muster only eight backers.

Golden Smile

Lincoln, Neb.

We believe the Lancaster County commissioners used good judgment in appointing Frank Golden to fill the vacancy of the county treasurer's office.

Partisan politics has nothing to do with our reasoning, as we have never voted a straight ticket in 38 years.

Judged by their abilities, integrity and dedication to their jobs, Mr. Mozdzen and Mr. Golden are apparently even, but if we get into personalities or pleasantness of public servants, as we notice how they meet and wait on public patrons, there is an apparent difference.

Our first contact with Mr. Golden, before we knew him, was when he was an employe of the late Governor Victor Anderson in his Havelock National Bank. He met all customers with a pleasant smile, regardless of who they were, and would rush to serve all with equal zeal. We have observed the same pleasantness and speed, over and above the normal, in his service as deputy Lancaster County clerk. It was apparent he didn't want to see anyone waiting.

Deputy County Treasurer Mozdzen has waited on us more than Frank Golden, in their county service, as we pay our taxes twice a year. As we paid, when our name was called, we can't ever remember seeing Mr. Mozdzen smile.

We feel sure Frank Golden will serve with distinction in whatever position he holds, and we can't help but believe public patrons have noticed or will notice what we have observed.

Surgery Called For

Alexandria, Neb.

Way back there, the Congress passed a law forbidding monopolies in restraint of trade. There were no exceptions. Later, about 1905, the Congress passed another law declaring that "The labor of a human being is not an article of commerce." Every congressman who voted for that declaration bought human labor every day and sold his own labor every day.

That monumental lie has now come home to roost. That lie freed the labor union bosses from any prosection for acts of monopoly like those, when committed by employers, were and are definitely criminal acts and are enforced as such.

So now we are subjected to extortion by any group of laborers who perform an essential service and are organized as a labor union. Now railroaders railroad, truckers truck, police police, and lately, even teachers teach when and only when—not their employers but their leaders order them to.

There is only one cure. Get rid of that monstrous lie of 1905. It can be done by congressional repeal. Or it can be done by Supreme Court action declaring it in violation of the Constitution and therefore void. Then employes will again have to abide by the law against monopoly in restraint of trade just as employers have had to all these years.

Aspirin won't do. This is a time for major surgery.

Indigestion

Staplehurst, Neb.

In regard to the postal strike, this is something the Army and National Guard can't do anything about. This statement shows how little Senator Carl Curtis and all the other government officials know about the workings of a post office. How could any stranger walk into a post office and sort mail?

Congress is the only one that can solve this problem by giving postal employes a decent living wage. Aren't we entitled to as much as private industry?

The postal employes all over the nation are uneasy — we can swallow promises about so long, but they are getting harder to digest.

White House Dinner Neither Dull Nor Dry

NEW YORK — There's one thing about an invitation to dinner at the White House. Even veteran Washingtonians drop the world-weary pose and scramble to accept.

So you can imagine how the rest of us lowly peasants feel when that square white envelope shows up in the mail. "Fluttery" is as good a word as any. Even the mailman was impressed.

And, since I never expect to dine at Buckingham Palace, you might say everything from here on in has to be slightly downhill (if all my future hostesses will forgive me).

Everybody else there seemed to feel the same way. Except maybe the Cabinet wives, who do this sort of thing all the time. (And none of them looked bored, either.)

It's one thing to take your Girl Scout troop on a public tour through the 170-year-old mansion and have to stretch your neck for a peek at the Red Room and the Blue Room before the guard hustles you along.

It's something else to sip champagne in those same rooms as an invited guest. There is something about the old house and the office of the President that gets to you. You get a tingle that has nothing to do with what's in your glass.

How else can you explain the fact that two famous ladies came eyeball-to-eyeball in identical dresses—and couldn't even come down to earth long enough to be upset?

Most of us small-town products expected to be awed—and we were. Even though we did out best to hide it. But then an old-time Washington resident confessed: "No matter how many times I come here, I always feel an evening in the White House is so SPECIAL."

And another dowager-type, who tosses fancy parties of her own that include Supreme Court judges and Cabinet and Senate bigwigs, admitted she'd postponed her trip to Rome for three days just to make it to Mrs. Nixon's party.

After that we didn't try to hide our awe any more.

Some of the most surprised guests were those who believed the legend (started by a disgruntled Democrat, no doubt) that only a prohibitonist could have a good time at a Nixon do.

If they fortified themselves beforehand they must have been sorry, because there's nothing "dry" about a White House dinner.

Drinks appear the minute you step into the hall — and no request is too exotic. You don't have to take them, but they're there for you if you AREN'T a prohibitionist. We had three different wines with dinner . . . and a choice of brandy and liqueurs with coffee.

Now, I don't know what the critics had in mind, but if they can "swing" any more than that with Lincoln's portrait staring down from the dining room wall, they're braver (or thirstier) than most.

Split-second timing was the order of the evening and nobody did much dawdling over wine. Not with those snappy military aides on duty.

They herded guests in for cocktails . . . in to dinner . . . back for brandy and coffee . . . then into the East Room for entertainment. Regular little sheep dogs, they were.

And while a few guests were tucking away White House matches for souvenirs (one lady made off with part of the floral centerpiece), I kept trying to figure how to smuggle one of those aides home.

Can you think of a better way to keep your men guests from huddling in the kitchen on business gossip while the wives languish in the living room?

Political System Responsible For Postal Strike; Action Unjustified Only In Strictest Legal Sense

WASHINGTON — Of course President Nixon is right that the postal workers cannot be allowed to strike against the government; and of course he cannot negotiate on their wage demands until they return to work, because to do so would be to legitimatize an illegal strike. But neither these assertions nor the use of troops to deliver the mail in New York goes to the heart of the matter, which is whether the situation should have been allowed to come to such an impasse.

The postal situation, in fact, is all too exemplary of what so often happens in America today. An institution fails to respond quickly or effectively to the needs or desires of those it affects; they then take matters into their own hands; and the institution is forced to respond with tough measures—political repression or strike-breaking.

When that happens, those—whether blacks, students or postmen—who tried and failed to get a response, before turning to the direct action for which they are rebuked, can hardly be blamed for developing a bitter mistrust of "The System." The first requirement of any institution should be that it function with reasonable effectiveness and equity; if it does not, it can hardly hope for and does not deserve allegiance and respect.

The postal workers, for instance, as well as other government employes, have been asked to abide by the self-evident proposition that there is no right to strike against the government. But it is equally self-evident that, if that is so, the government must take care to maintain its side of the compact. Its employes must not be put in the position of having no way to gain a just end except by breaking the law.

Without asserting that the postal workers' demands are entirely justified, it does seem clear that they are not well paid by the standards of other public service employes; and this is particularly so in the major cities, where both the cost of living and the risks of the job are likely to be higher than in the small towns.

The postal workers, moreover, have been caught in the Nixon administration's fight against inflation (although if the President had been as militantly against corporation price increases as he has been against postal pay rises, the workers might be less irritated). And they are victims of the political maneuvering that has accompanied the linkage of a proposed pay increase to the difficult, if desirable, postal reform the administration has been seeking.

Thus, while the strike that spread so swiftly from New York across the nation was certainly a "wildcat" which the government cannot tolerate, it is unjustified only in the strictest legal sense. It would by no means be unjustified by the standards that govern most employe-union relations; and, in fact, since the government claims the right to deny its employe unions the ultimate weapon used by other labor organizations, the government has a greater obligation than most industries to consider in timely and sympathetic fashion the needs and welfare of its employes. It is at least questionable whether that obligation was met in the case of the postal workers.

The worst of the resulting strike is that there is no satisfactory way out of it. To try to break it with troops is not only distasteful; it could produce violence and bitterness that might even prolong the strike, and postal authorities say untrained soldiers can't do the job anyway. To negotiate a wage increase while the strike goes on is to invite more strikes by other dissatisfied government employes.

Yet, to insist — as Nixon has little alternative but to do — that the union must return to work before negotiating can begin is to some extent unfair in that it puts the burden on the workers and denies the government's share of the blame for the situation; it is self-serving, in that it asks the letter carriers to entrust their welfare to the very institution they believe has already neglected it; and it is ironic in that even if the union does go back to work, and a pay raise is granted in the subsequent negotiations, the postal workers still are quite likely to draw the conclusion that only the strike got results.

All this should have been avoided in a vigorous and effective political system. As it is, the strike is one more suggestion that the American system has become so massive and impersonal and therefore so unresponsive that the only way to make it act is to give it — in John W. Gardner's phrase — "a solid jolt." That is a basic reason for the harsh conflicts in American society today.

Teacher Training Said Needed For Mental Health Education

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Teacher training institutions and in-service training courses for teachers would be the place to begin with intensive mental health education programs in the opinion of Dr. William Carlyon of the American Medical Association.

So far, teaching about mental health "hasn't been done very well," Carlyon declared.

"In fact, we've taught just the opposite by presenting certain sets of narrowly defined behavior" as mental health, he contended.

Carlyon, a member of the AM's department of health education in Chicago, Ill., emphasized that education is the "primary prevention" measure for mental health problems.

Lower Grades

Focus should be in the lower elementary grades, he said, with teachers helping children deal with such feelings as aggression and impulses of gratification. However, he added, teachers should be "teaching about mental health," not just creating a mentally healthy environment.

Carlyon, in Lincoln to preside at the two-day Nebraska Conference on Education for Health and Fitness, noted that education is an integral part of health services, and lines of communication among the various agencies and people involved in mental health need to be improved.

Mental health education was a key feature in recommendations proposed by four task forces to the 75 conference participants, leaders in health and allied professions, educational institutions, county and state agencies and representatives of civic and service organizations.

Variety Of Plans

Task forces on health education and fitness for youths, adults and the aged recommended a variety of plans for legislative action, education programs and special and continuing projects that won general endorsement of the conference participants.

The administrator of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, John P. Wilbern, told the conference in a luncheon address that physical fitness "provides a sounder base" for achieving mental, emotional and moral fitness.

Physical fitness is an important therapy aide for mental health problems, Wilbern said.

Plan For Adults

The President's Council is beginning to develop a physical fitness program for adults, the administrator reported in an interview later. Money is being requested from Congress to start research about adult fitness, attitudes and practices, he said.

An adult program, patterned after the youth physical fitness programs initiated by the council, is exceedingly more difficult to develop because there is no organized structure — such as the schools — to work through and no captive audience.

Adults do not have as much time for a program as youths, but the evidence is becoming more apparent that in their available leisure time, adults are "more sedentary" and accomplish less outside their jobs, he pointed out.

Wilbur Given 5 To 10 Year Term

Gary LeRoy Wilbur, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the August death of his wife, Judy, was sentenced Tuesday to an indeterminate term of from five to 10 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles, in handing down sentence, cited LB1307, passed by the 1969 Legislature, which, he said, gives the director of corrections "sweeping powers" in developing the treatment of persons confined in the penal complex on indeterminate sentences.

He said he would give such indeterminate sentences wherever it appeared possible.

Wilbur, found guilty last December by a Lancaster District Court jury, had nothing to say why sentence should not be pronounced.

However, his court-appointed attorney, Charles Knight, pleaded for leniency and asked the court to consider probation for Wilbur.

Judge Boyles said he had studied Wilbur's record and general attitude which indicated a tendency toward violent acts dating back to 1965.

According to testimony during the trial, Judy Wilbur died of a blood loss resulting from damage to the liver caused from "blows" received Aug. 14.

Douglas To File Charges In House-Stripping Incidents

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said Tuesday that he intends to file charges Wednesday against some individuals involved in the so-called "house-stripping" incidents of homes purchased by the City of Lincoln along the proposed Northeast Radial.

After investigation of the incidents, City Attorney Norman Krivosha said earlier that most of the missing items were not stolen but were taken by both city employes and citizens who had permission from city officials.

However, he referred to the county attorney's office for review the names of several individuals involved in what was believed to have been a concerted, organized effort to enter homes and to remove items for the purpose of resale.

Denney To Attend Hearing

Congressman Robert Denney will be among the witnesses appearing at an April 3 public hearing before the Legislative Council's study committee on eminent domain.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway, committee chairman, said Tuesday that Denney is expected to discuss governing use of eminent domain by the Federal government, and proposed changes in these laws.

The hearing is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. at the State Capitol.

Also appearing, Waldron said, will be representatives of the State Game Commission and Department of Roads.

The committee will hold another public hearing April 2 at the courthouse in Aurora.

Student Named To Pollution Unit

A University of Nebraska student, Robert Frangenberg, has been named Nebraska representative on the Student Council on Pollution of the Environment.

The student group advises the Interior Department on environmental pollution matters.

Who is number one in individual pensions?

Demeral Andrew

Winslow Van Brunt

New England Life, of course. And here at our Omaha agency, these two men are responsible for keeping it that way.

Winslow Van Brunt is Director of Pension Administration and Demeral Andrew heads up the agency as Manager. Between the two, they are providing businessmen throughout Nebraska with a valuable service in the pension and profit-sharing field.

Because of New England Life's leadership in the pension trust area, they are able to give you the benefit of vast experience as they work with your own advisers, including your attorney, accountant and trust officer.

They can also offer a variety of new plans, pre-approved by the IRS, to simplify and speed your pension and profit-sharing arrangements. These afford wide latitude in the choice of funding methods and provide a flexibility to meet your specific needs.

As you've probably gathered, the pension field is undergoing significant changes. Opportunities are unfolding where they did not exist before. An example of this is the so-called "Professional Corporation." Now a professional man can conduct his practice in a way that lets him enjoy the tax-saving benefits of a corporation.

It is essential today, perhaps more than ever before, to seek the advice of thoroughly experienced pension planning people.So by all means,call Mr.VanBrunt.You'll be glad you did.

County Takes No Action On Withdrawing Appeal

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County officials took no action Tuesday after discussing the pros and cons of withdrawing the county's appeal of the State Board of Equalization's action last year to increase rural land values 29%.

County Board of Equalization Chairman William Grossman asked, "If we win it, which I'm confident we will, what are we winning?"

Assessor Fritz Meyer said winning the appeal is just a matter of "winning the battle and losing the war."

The county appealed the $21,053,330 tacked onto rural land values by the State Board of Equalization last year on the contention that the method used to determine the values was not equitable.

If the county wins the appeal, tax money collected in the 29% added value, which amounted to about $750,000, will have to be refunded, necessitating added levy in the taxing districts affected by the change in value.

Meyer told the board many problems arise out of the appeal in that overlapping school districts such as in Saunders County, which had no appeal since it received no increase, will be forced to pay for the refund but receive no benefit.

3 Mills

He said in School District 160, which overlaps into Otoe and Gage Counties, it would take about three mills to make up the $54,000 which would have to be refunded if the county wins the appeal.

Meyer said he had talked to a commissioner from Gage County who said that county will dismiss its appeal if Lancaster decides to dismiss and that Saline County will follow suit if Gage withdraws.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan argued that even if the appeal results in not "saving me any money, I'd be willing" to carry it through for the "principle of the thing."

Who Will Suffer?

He said the people who will suffer are individuals who own "a lot of rural land and that's me."

According to records, Harlan owns 40 parcels of land in the county including more than 1,800 acres plus numerous lots in Hickman and Bennet.

Harlan said Tuesday that he had objected all along to the results of the Cole-Layer-Trumble reappraisal of the county in that "it isn't fair to rural taxpayers."

Information obtained from the assessor's office showed that the total Cole-Layer-Trumble value of Harlan's property is $358,650 as compared with a value of $303,590 before the reappraisal.

Harlan asked Meyer what effect the refund and levy would have on the village of Hickman.

Meyer replied that the increase in value was on land only, but that the added levy necessary to make the refunds will apply to improvements as well as land in the rural districts affected.

Meyer estimated that the owner of a $30,000 house on a five-acre tract would get a nominal refund but be taxed an additional $10 to $12 because he has "a nice house on a small parcel of land."

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas also opposed dismissing the county's appeal.

He said he didn't think the state board should be allowed to act arbitrarily regardless of how much it costs the taxpayers percentage-wise.

Douglas said, "If the board thinks it's foolish to contest, then why have I been over there for six years protesting any increases on Lancaster County real estate?"

"Why is it any different from last year or the year before?" he asked.

'Haven't Equalized'

He said if the state board had used only sales-assessment ratios to arrive at the increases, "we wouldn't appeal."

"My complaint is they (the State Board of Equalization) haven't equalized between counties. If we're not equal with other counties, then why should we sit and let them walk on us?"

Douglas further argued that if the county dismisses its appeal, several individuals who had considered appeals in the event the county decided not to take the initiative would have no recourse since the time for appeal has passed.

County Board Sets Hearing On Licenses For Outpost Inn

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday set March 31 for public hearing on applications for a retail on-and-off-sale beer license and bottle club license for the Outpost Inn.

The applications for the licenses were made by Charley Brakhage after City-County Health Director Dr. G. R. Underwood had suggested that a public hearing be held because of health problems with the tavern.

The commissioners had accepted Dr. Underwood's recommendation which had the effect of Brakhage's having to apply for new licenses.

In other business, County Engineer Walter Hoppe noted that the county should be given some recognition for its granting the city permission to use 10 miles of county road in the city's provisional truck route.

Hoppe said that the 10 miles along 84th Street and Old Cheney Road were paid for by county funds with the exception of one mile which was a joint city and county project.

Meeting Slated For Village Clerks

Lancaster County Clerk Carl Hartman said that a meeting of all county village clerks will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the County-City Building.

He said the purpose of the meeting is to discuss the uniform budgeting bill passed by the 1969 Legislature.

Provisions of LB1433 require that any county levying body must adjust levies in proportion to any valuation change made by the state board.

Man Sentenced For Assault

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Tuesday sentenced a 44-year-old Lincoln man to four months in jail on an assault and battery charge in connection with the burning of his seven-year-old son's hand.

Robert Oren Wylie, of 2805 Starr, who was originally charged with assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury, was found guilty Jan. 29 of assault and battery by a Lancaster District Court jury.

After nearly a day's deliberation, the jury brought in the guilty verdict on the lesser charge.

According to police reports at the time of the incident last October, Wylie held the right hand of his son, Robert Jr., in the flames of a kitchen stove as punishment for starting a fire while playing with matches.

The boy suffered second and third degree burns on his hand and was treated in an Omaha hospital.

Legislators Plan Public Hearing

The Legislative Council study commiittee on county government will hold a public hearing Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the State Capitol.

Among the subjects under study is uniform taxing of motor vehicles, merger of counties and municipalities, home rule for counties and phasing out of the office of county superintendent.

Salary Requests For School Administrators Given Airing

Differences in daily rates of pay for school administrators and justification of additional payments for advanced degrees dominated discussion at the informal Board of Education-Lincoln Education Association negotiations session Tuesday.

The unusually short meeting was held to review the salary requests of administrators, averaging 12.1%, for the 1970-71 school year.

Salary requests of classroom teachers, averaging 11.1%, and fringe benefits for all employes have been the major concerns at previous negotiations sessions.

Administrators are beginning to realize that the classroom teacher is the most important person in the school system, according to LEA negotiating team members, justifying the possibility of higher daily rates of pay for some teachers than some principals might receive if the LEA requests were granted.

Board team members also questioned proposals that would result in some elementary principals receiving higher rates of pay than some senior high principals.

It was reported that senior high principals agreed there needs to be a closer relationship among principals' salaries, which resulted in proposed average pay increases of 13.3% for elementary principals compared to an average of 7% for senior high principals.

LEA team members justified requests for an additional $500 payment to administrators with a six-year certificate and $1,000 for a Ph.D. degree saying that the graduate work had been recognized in the past by the school board.

Advanced degree programs must have some significance, it was indicated, or they would not exist.

Intruders Take Car Parts, Oil

Approximately $190 worth of car parts and oil were taken from Allen Auto and Truck Parts, 100 West P, police said Tuesday.

The intruders slashed a wire screen and pried open a window, police said.

Karnopp Defends Two-Man Patrols

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp said Tuesday that "saving tax dollars isn't as important as saving lives."

In response to a proposal by Republican Kenneth Nelson, who is opposing Karnopp in the primary, Karnopp said he will continue to use two men in each patrol car at night.

Nelson had proposed assigning one man to a patrol car to better serve the public with the same number of staff.

"We have seen in this county the potential danger of a one-man, one-car patrol," Karnopp said.

Karnopp said that sheriff's department officers travel alone in the cars on daytime patrol.

Fine Collections Rise

Rome (AP) — The government collected $48.9 million in fines from Italians last year, or 16% more than in 1968.

Support Seen For Paying State Solons More

The Nebraska Legislature should remain unicameral, and state senators should be paid more, according to a majority of responses to a questionnaire circulated among state officials and governmental experts.

The results were reported Tuesday by Robert Barnett, executive director of the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission.

The 52 respondents included 32 state senators, Gov. Norbert Tiemann and former Govs. Dwight Burney, Robert Crosby and Frank Morrison.

Forty-four persons who answered felt that Nebraska should retain the Unicameral, the only one-house legislature in the union, while eight persons said the Legislature should again become bicameral.

Thirty-eight votes were received for increasing the pay of state senators, while 11 persons felt the senators were being paid enough already.

Respondents were fairly equally divided on whether the Legislature should remain nonpartisan or be converted to a party-label body.

Twenty-four respondents — 20 of them state senators — thought the body should remain nonpartisan. Twenty-seven respondents — 11 of them state senators — thought the Legislature should be partisan.

On the question of permitting the public to witness all legislative activity, only eight senators felt that all sessions, including all committee meetings at which a vote is taken, should be open to the public while 23 senators were opposed to total exposure.

Hike In Nursing Home Rates Rejected

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Welfare Director Harold Strode said Tuesday no rate increase for nursing home care for welfare patients can be made at this time because of a possible budget deficit.

Strode announced the "hold-the-line" position on nursing home rates following a conference of state welfare officials, Nebraska Nursing Home Association representatives and Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

Nursing home operators have called for a 10% blanket increase in nursing home rates, and the Department of Public Welfare earlier had agreed to study the possibility of a 5% increase.

However, Strode said Tuesday no rate increase is possible because of the $1.6 million budgetary deficit facing the department.

The welfare chief noted the average payment for nursing home care increased to $200.90 per month last December as compared with $166 a year ago.

Total nursing care cost for last December was $1,280,000 as compared with $882,000 in December 1968. Nearly 1,000 more patients were in nursing homes last December.

Strode said the department plans to advise the Legislative Council's executive board regarding the nursing home care problem.

Some nursing home operators have indicated they will refuse to accept welfare patients unless rates are increased to cover wage increases and other inflationary costs.

The nursing home association has advocated a "reimbursable costs" plan for welfare patients in lieu of the present flat-rate system.

Strode said such a plan is being developed by the department for the consideration of the 1971 Legislature. However, he said no change in the present payment method is possible until then.

Youth Treated For Accidental Gunshot Wound

A 19-year-old Lincoln youth was treated and released from Bryan Memorial Hospital after he suffered an accidental gunshot wound in his left foot, police said Tuesday.

According to the police, Terry J. Ernisse suffered the wound while cleaning a .22-caliber gun.

Fremont Park Funds Sought

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann reported Tuesday that the state has recommended to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation a $12,000 federal grant to the city of Fremont for park purposes.

The money, along with state and local funds, would be used to acquire approximately 8.5 acres of land for a neighborhood park.

Under the program based on the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965, the federal government meets 50% of costs of approved projects, with the state putting up 25% and the city providing the remainder.

Minister Named To Head Association For Retarded

Rev. John W. Foley
Director Of NARC

A Saunders County Methodist minister, The Rev. John W. Foley, was named Tuesday to be the new executive director of the Nebraska Association for Retarded Children (NARC).

He replaces Verlin Boldry, who held the post for three years before assuming the office of executive director of the Lancaster County Office of Mental Retardation.

The Rev. Mr. Foley is a native of Scotland, S.D. He holds a bachelor's degree from Westmar College and a master of divinity degree from the Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville, Ill.

He has served pastorates at Crofton, Gardner, Ill., and since 1968 has been pastor of the Ithaca-Ceresco United Methodist Parish in Saunders County.

Planting Scheme For No. 27th To Be Prepared

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The Mayor's Urban Design and Natural Beauty Committee, with all eyes focused on possibilities for beautification, Tuesday evening reviewed the design for the widening of North 27th St. from P to Potter.

Members agreed that plantings should be installed wherever possible in order to give the street "some character."

Emphasis was placed on what could be done to keep the street from looking drab.

Items under consideration were the design of retaining walls, plantings in the median and the installation of trees along the curbs.

A planting scheme will be prepared by City Landscape Architect Emilio Fontana and submitted for the committee to review, committee members decided.

City Public Works Director Robert Obering, who is also a committee member, said he was pleased about the idea of working a planting scheme into the widening plans.

Differences of opinion were expressed over the types of plantings best suited for the median. Some felt that trees should be planted while others, such as Obering, preferred low shrubbery.

'Narrow Feeling'

Obering also said he felt that the installation of trees in the sidewalk adjacent to the curb would give motorists "a feeling that the street is narrower." As a result, motorists might not travel two abreast in one direction, according to the public works director.

Fontana said the added costs to the project from the installation of plantings could be recouped "through the increased value of property that might occur because of the plantings."

Committee Chairman Larry Enersen, an architect, said he hoped that underground wiring would be installed to get rid of "the spaghetti appearance overhead."

Obering responded that the Lincoln Electric System is making a cost study of such a project.

Requirements Endorsed

In other business, the committee adopted a resolution endorsing the present front yard setback requirements for parking lots in residential areas. The City-County Planning Commission had asked the committee for its recommendation.

Also in the resolution was a recommendation that all governmental units follow setback requirements for parking lots. Legally, governmental units do not have to follow the requirements.

Intruders Enter Greenwood P.O.

Intruders broke a lock on a door and entered a post office building at Greenwood early Tuesday, but postal inspector D. R. Hoven said nothing was taken.

A safe had been turned on its side and a knob broken, Hoven said, but it hadn't been opened.

Threat Of Bomb Reported At East

East High officials received an anonymous phone call Tuesday night claiming that a bomb was planted inside the school, fire officials said.

A bomb crew from the fire department made a search of the building and found no bomb.

Thomas Backs Use Of Troops

David Thomas, Doane College professor and candidate for the Democratic nomination as U.S. senator, has taken issue with a statement by Wallace Peterson on the use of troops during the mail strike.

Peterson is also a candidate for the nomination.

According to Thomas, "Nixon had no alternative but to call out the troops. A strike by government employes is clearly illegal, and the government has an obligation to maintain their vital services.

"The troops were brought in with restraint," Thomas added. "This will definitely help resolve the situation and lead to a peaceful settlement."

Drug Abuse, Education Discussed With Parents

By LIANE WETTERER
Star Staff Writer

Dawes Junior High School is moonlighting in adult education.

An estimated 75 to 100 parents listened Tuesday night to education and drug abuse resource personnel explain the underlying psychology behind their respective fields.

"I know the hot ground is the one dealing with coping with drugs," said Ben Goble, director of community relations for the Lincoln Police Department.

"And for the most part, it has caught fire just the last year in the Lincoln area. The spark was a survey published indicating that 25% of Lincoln's teenagers have either tried or currently use drugs," he said.

Like Iceberg Theory

"It's kind of like the iceberg theory," Goble said. There is more below the surface than can be detected from evidence on the surface.

Out of 272 drug abuse cases investigated in the state last year, 34 were in Lincoln and 96 in Omaha, he said. "We know the problem is increasing, mostly in marijuana, though, with only a few LSD cases discovered.

"Our main objective," he said, "is not to throw kids in jail. Our first concern is for the suspect's medical needs. Does he need medical attention? Secondly, a law has been violated."

Underlying Reasons

Goble listed the underlying reasons law enforcement is concerned with drug sales as:

—such sales are illegal.

—drugs lead to other crimes.

. "A recent study reported conclusively that in New York City alone one-half of the crimes committed were the direct result of either drug addiction or the influence of drugs."

—since illegal sales of drugs can't be taxed, the government is being cheated out of millions of dollars in taxes yearly.

On hand to explain curriculum changes on the junior high level was Dr. Ronald Massie, consultant for mathematics.

One of the biggest changes in recent years, he said, was the relaxation of science and mathematics requirements after the eighth-grade level.

"In order to increase electives for junior high students," Massie explained, "outside of increasing the number of class periods during the day, our only alternative waas to drop requirement stipulations for some subjects."

Biggest Drop

The biggest drop was felt in the science department enrollment, where "some schools have lost close to 50% of their enrollment."

Another innovation introduced on the junior high level was the concept of continuous progress courses.

In these courses students are provided with written assignments to be completed at their own pace during the year. Credit is alloted for the work satisfactorily covered.

Benefiting Most

"Youngsters at the lower end of the scale are benefiting most from the continuous progress method," he said.

"Whereas a sharp youngster can grasp the material long enough to pass the test by barely scanning, a slower student has to take his time and study the material carefully.

"Underlying the theory is the idea all youngsters don't work at the same rate — a problem educators have been trying to resolve for a number of years," he explained.

Parents Told To Withhold Legal Action

Bellevue (AP) — Parents of Bellevue school children who are scheduled to pay tuition to attend Bellevue schools beginning April 6 have been advised to withhold legal action against the tuition charges.

The Bellevue School Board decided Monday to charge a rate of $225 for each school child in families living on federal property, Supt. Richard Triplett said.

A spokesman at Offutt Air Force Base, where many of the federally-connected children live, said Maj. James W. Johnson, Offutt judge advocate, has advised the parents not to take legal action until it is known whether a solution can be found to the school money problems.

Triplett said the decision to charge tuition was made to offset a difference of $657,000 between what the district is entitled to in federal impact aid funds and what it is expected to receive.

He said 79% of the district's 10,000 students are members of federally connected families.

JIM BILL

Two David City Brothers Attend Naval Academy

David City — Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hook of David City are midshipmen at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

Jim is a midshipman first class and has been on the Dean's List at the academy for the last two years. He will graduate from Annapolis June 3, 1970, and following a month's leave will report to Pensacola, Fla., for naval flight officer training, followed by five years of active duty.

His brother Bill is a midshipman fourth class. Both are graduates of Aquinas High School in David City. Jim was graduated in 1966 and Bill in 1969.

Special Services Planned By Lincoln Area Churches

Many Lincoln area churches have scheduled special services for the observance of holy week. The rites to be performed include:

Parker Hearing Date Set

May 25 was set Tuesday as the date for an evidentiary hearing on the voluntariness of a confession given by Darrel F. Parker prior to his conviction on first degree murder charges.

Judge Bartlett E. Boyles set the date in keeping with a directive from Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt.

Van Pelt ordered the district court to grant such a hearing within 90 days from Feb. 27, carrying out a directive of the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Parker, former Lincoln city forester, was convicted in 1956 of first degree murder in the strangulation slaying of his wife, Nancy. He had spent 13 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex until a series of appeals reopened the case and permitted a release on bond, at least temporarily.

If the May 25 hearing should bring a determination that Parker's confession was voluntary, his 1956 conviction would stand. If the confession is found to have been coerced, Parker would have to be given a new trial.

Suburbia—And The Easter Weekend

Now that we're going into the fifth full day of spring, we're probably beginning to wonder if spring-like weather is ever going to arrive. It seems that instead of increasingly warmer temperatures, we've been having increasingly colder temperatures with rain and wet snows adding to the unpleasant cold. We're all hoping of course, that the weather will warm up sufficiently for this weekend when many of us will take to the road to visit friends and relatives for the Easter weekend.

MISS EURAINA LAWSON

Of interest to town and campus this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lawson of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Euraina, to AMM. Michael Lee Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Peterson.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, June 13.

Miss Lawson is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska where she is majoring in business education.

Mr. Peterson, a former student at the University of Nebraska now is serving with the Air National Guard and is stationed at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois.

Bridal Attendants

Naming the members of her bridal party this morning is University of Nebraska coed, Miss Sandra Kaye Ham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ham of Benkelman, whose marriage to David Bryon Jones, son of Mrs. LaVeta Jones of Benkelman, will be solemnized on Saturday, March 28.

Miss Ham has chosen her sister, Mrs. Ron Cunningham of Franklin for her matron of honor and another sister, Mrs. Henry Krug Jr., and Mrs. Pat Mahar of Harrison will be the bridesmatrons.

Larry Moomey of Nampa, Idaho will serve as best man and the groomsmen will be Dave Noble of South Sioux City and Jerry Rossmiller of Cheyenne, Wyo. Gary Ham, a brother of the bridegroom elect, from Benkelman, Boyd Adkinson of Benkelman and Jim Buffington of Orchard will seat the guests.

MISS MARSHA MAXWELL

This morning Mr. and Mrs. John Maxwell of Ashland make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Marsha Lou, to Kenneth D. Curtis, son of Mrs. Grace Curtis of Lincoln.

An autumn wedding is planned.

Mr. Curtis is attending the University of Nebraska.

Traveling to be with relatives, having guests come for a visit, and those away-at-school students arriving home for vacation seems to be in the news we've been hearing from Suburbia this week.

Mr. and Mrs. David White of South Hills have been a very busy couple recently. On Wednesday, March 11, they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noren of Country Club Terrace for a short trip to Las Vegas, Nev. Upon their return on March 15, Mr. and Mrs. White greeted a visitor — a former Lincoln resident, Harlen Gellhaus of Rapid City, S.D. Then on Thursday, March 19, Mr. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pflaum of North Platte, stopped in Lincoln for a short visit on their way for a spring vacation in Germany. During Mr. and Mrs. Pflaum's stay, Mr. and Mrs. White gave a dinner party at which guests included Mrs. Pflaum's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Exon.

Another South Hills home which has a trip on the agenda for the upcoming weekend is that of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Heng. Mr. and Mrs. Heng and their three children, Mark, Mick and Lisa, will be going to Nebraska City on Saturday to spend the weekend with Mrs. Heng's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Berarnd Barrett.

Moving day is scheduled for Tuesday, March 31, for Country Club Terrace residents, Dr. and Mrs. Richard C. Wieland who will be moving from their home at 3942 Pace Blvd. to a new home at 2501 Surrey Court. Even while being swamped with getting ready for the move, Dr. and Mrs. Wieland found time last weekend to go to Holdrege to visit with his brother-in-law and sister.

From Eastmont, we've been hearing of students arriving home for spring vacation. Last week, Miss Jane Whitmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.. J. Whitmer, spent a March 17-22 holiday at the home of her parents. Miss Whitmer is a student at Colorado State University at Greeley. Accompanying her home was Miss Cathy Clough of Aurora, Colo., also a student at CSU where both coeds are cheerleaders.

A family gathering is planned for Pine Lake residents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Perry this week. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wolff and their children, Nancy and Al of Prairie Village, Kan. arrived on Tuesday and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perry through Easter. They also will be visiting Mrs. Wolff's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Ed Perry, and their family.

Preparations For Beaux Arts Ball

We hasten to explain that there have been orders for the best mask in the categories Miss Julie Jenkins, Mrs. Don

John R. Wilson, managing director of the Lincoln Community Playhouse, is not wearing a bandage. It is the beginning of a mask.

As everyone should know by this time the Lincoln Community Playhouse Guild has planned a Beaux Arts Ball the purpose of which, naturally, is to give aid and comfort to the Playhouse exchequer. It is a 'masked' Ball — not to be confused with a costume affair.

What you see in the picture is a mask class which works under the able direction of Mrs. Mark Muffley. You also see Mrs. Muffley constructing a three-quarter mask from the Eugene O'Neill play, "The Great God Brown," on Mr. Wilson, just to show how a mask can be made. Mr. O'Neill experimented with masks to dramatize the lack of understanding in human relationship.

Mrs. Muffley, however, was using Eugene O'Neill just as an example. The Beaux Arts Ball has a Grecian theme, and therefore the class must do considerable research before Mrs. Muffley permits the members to begin construction of any mask. They will be doing the masks on order, and at the moment, so we hear, some spectacular and fantastic creations — even those with curls for some of the men.

Prizes are to be awarded for of comedy and tragedy. We are told that the prizes are from Greece.

Abby: ask your husband

DEAR ABBY: We live in a small town where everybody knows everybody else's business.

Well, my husband and I have two cars. He drives one and I drive the other. About a week ago he asked me if I would mind letting him use MY car because his had to go into the shop. Well, of course I said I didn't mind, even tho it meant my begging rides with my neighbors to haul my kids here and there, do my marketing, and so on.

It turned out that HIS car never did go into the shop as there was nothing wrong with it. Instead he let some redheaded divorcee who works for him use HIS car because HERS had to go into the shop. How about that?

Everybody in town has seen this redhead driving my husband's car and I am plenty mad! My sister says I should go see this redhead and smash her nose in. What is your advice?

NO WHEELS

DEAR NO: Don't take your sister's advice seriously or you could have an assault case on your hands. Ask your husband if the redhead is driving his car for business or pleasure. If it's pleasure—give him the business.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 years old and I'm writing to you with a problem I am too ashamed to ask anybody about face to face.

I grew up on a farm. We had 16 cows who had to be milked morning and evening and I did ALL the milking. We didn't have mechanical milkers, so I milked those cows by HAND myself.

Well, my problem is I have a forearm any man would be proud of, and I am a woman. Is there any way I can get those big muscles down? They aren't as firm as they used to be because I don't milk cows any more, but I would like to wear sleeveless dresses now and then. Thanks for any help you can give me.

"MUSCLES"

DEAR MUSCLES: When a formerly muscular person stops exercising, flab replaces muscle. If I were you, I'd wear sleeves.

Wedding Plans Revealed

Next Saturday afternoon the wedding of Miss Cheryl Fejt and James R. Cook will take place at the Second Baptist Church, and this morning Miss Fejt is announcing the members of the bridal party.

Mrs. William Scheve of Sioux City, Iowa, has been chosen as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Linda Mann, and Mrs. James Fejt of Craig, Colo.

William Scheve will serve Mr. Cook as best man, and seating the guests will be Paul Tangeman of Orange, Tex., and James Fejt of Craig, Colo.

The bride-elect was complimented last Sunday afternoon, March 22, when two of her attendants, Miss Mann and Mrs. Scheve, were hostesses at a personal shower when they entertained at the home of Mrs. Marvin Bauer.

Miss Fejt, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fejt of Arthur, is careering in the office of the sports information director, Don Bryant, at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Cook, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cook of Blue Springs, is a senior in the University of Nebraska College of Law.

April bride-elect Miss Eugenia Taube, also is announcing her attendants this morning. Miss Taube's marriage to John R. Bainbridge will be solemnized on Saturday, April 4, at St. Teresa's Church.

Mrs. Andrew Taube will be her sister-in-law's matron of honor for the afternoon ceremony and Miss Zigrid Lirmanis has been chosen maid of honor. Mrs. Deryl Javorsky will be bridesmatron.

Mr. Bainridge will be served by Lawrence Beldin, Jr. as best man, and the groomsmen include Andrew Taube, brother of the bride and Jerald H. Bainbridge of Holdrege, brother of the bridegroom. Leonard Bosinio will serve as an usher.

Miss Taube is a senior at the University of Nebraska, from where her fiance was graduated. Mr. Bainbridge is an electrical engineer in Dallas, Tex.

Miss Taube is the daughter of Mrs. Krist Ziverts and the late Mr. Taube. Mr. Bainbridge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony George Bainbridge.

Another bride-elect who is revealing plans this morning for an April wedding is Miss Shari Pancake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claron Pancake of York, who has chosen Tuesday, April 7 for her marriage to Pfc. James Stahr, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stahr.

The service will be solemnized at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in York at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Karen Funk of Atkinson will be the maid of honor and the bridesmaids will include Miss Linda Howard of Plattsmouth, Miss Linda Needham and Miss Judy Johnson of York. Miss Pat Holen of Lexington and Miss Cindy Wasker of Des Moines will light the tapers.

Orval Stahr will serve his brother as best man and the groomsmen will be Randy Parks of Fairbury and Randy Haack and Steve Meredith, both of York.

John Levitt, Ken Kunze and Steve Neujahr all of York and Gene Parks of Fairbury will seat the guests.

BPW Dinner Scheduled

The members of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club will meet Thursday evening, March 26, at First Federal Savings and Loan, 1235 N St. The dinner meeting will begin at 6 o'clock, and chairmen of the evening's activities will be Mrs. Sally Dudgeon and Mrs. Catherine Nielson.

The program, which is one in a series dealing with "Crime and Its Prevention," will be presented by Silas R. Lyman from the University of Nebraska School of Law, who will speak on the topic "Crime and the Courts." Mr. Lyman's talk will be followed by a panel discussion to be presented by club members Mrs. Nielson, Mrs. Sue Blalock and Mrs. Charlotte Jackson.

A Birthday Celebrated

It wasn't just St. Patrick's Day a week ago yesterday — it also was a special day for Mrs. Cora Dally who, on March 17, celebrated her 95th birthday.

Helping to make the birthday a special one was the arrival of Mrs. Dally's daughter, Mrs. Berniece Brock, who makes her home in Portland, Ore., and who has not been in Lincoln for several years. Mrs. Dally also has a son, Kenneth, who lives in Lincoln. She numbers seven grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren, and seven great-great-grandchildren among the members of her family.

Mrs. Dally, who has been a resident of the Lewis Nursing Home since 1963, still enjoys her visitors and the cards and letters she receives. "The good Lord, doctors, nurses, relatives and many friends have certainly been very good to me," she says.

FRUIT SOUFFLE

2 bananas, peeled and sliced
12 marshmallows, cut small
1—12 oz. can "SOLO" Prune, Peach, Pineapple, Cherry, Apricot, Date or Almond filling.
Just a pinch of salt
1 or 2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup whipping cream, whipped chopped nuts
maraschino cherries

Mix the bananas, marshmallows and a can of the "SOLO" filling you selected. Add salt, lemon juice and grated lemon rind. Fold in the whipped cream, blend well and chill thoroughly. Pour into sherbet glasses and chill until served. Garnish with a little chopped nuts and top with a dab of whipped cream. A maraschino cherry can be added to dress the top. (This recipe can be made with a combination of two "SOLO" fruit fillings, such as Apricot and Prune, or Pineapple and Peach, etc. The end results will be perfect.) Page 56 in Solo Recipe Book.

Nymphs and satyrs frolic among the grapes on this Martele silver bowl. The design is typical of the art nouveau style. (Gorham Silver Company collection

By Ralph and Terry Kovel

It is not always the maker's name that appears on American silver. The artist designer or craftsman of the 18th century usually signed his own work. By the 19th century some of the smaller pieces were sold unmarked. They were stamped later with the name of the store that sold it.

As late as 1891 the Gorham Silver Company decided to make artistic handmade silverware. They hired an artist named William Codman from England who directed a group of artists.

The finished silver was marked "Martele" or "Athenic." Athenic was made of silver plus some other metals. Martele was an art nouveau design with raised designs and naturalistic forms. Martele was sterling silver.

Reading the daily horoscope is not a new idea. The 19th century farmers in America were convinced that the stars influenced man. The almanac helped a farmer decide when to plant, when to harvest, when to have a tooth pulled or when to cut the weeds.

The roots of a weed would not die if they were cut under the sign of Pisces. If potatoes were planted under a new moon, only the tops would grow. Beef killed when the moon was old would shrink when cooked. Today, we can collect the almanacs to help us reflect on the oddities of another day. Some of the old superstitions and beliefs have remained.

Q. Dad says that he has a very, very old Yo-yo. Please tell me if he is kidding.

A. The yo-yo dates back to ancient times. It was known in the Far East and was sometimes used as a weapon. The Yo-yo was rolled down from a tree and it hit the enemy below. A Yo-yo was pictured in 18th century portraits of children.

The "patent return wheel" was first made in the United States in 1867. A metal Yo-yo was made in 1906. It was during the 1920s that the name "Yo-yo" was patented and the toy became the rage.

Q. Who was Raphael Tuck?

A. Raphael Tuck was born in Prussia in 1821. He moved to London with his wife Ernestine and their six children in 1865. They opened a small shop to sell pictures and do picture framing. The firm prospered and they soon began designing and publishing chromolitho-lithographs, oleographs, and black and white lithographs, and color reproductions.

In 1871, Raphael Tuck published his first Christmas cards. The firm had a contest in 1880 to promote their greeting cards. They asked many artists to create pictures for the cards. A large cash prize was awarded. The art and exhibition of art for the contest made Raphael Tuck and his Christmas cards famous.

The company continues to prosper. It was run by Tuck's sons. Today it is part of the British Printing Corporation.

Book Review

Print collectors have their choice of country and century. "American Printmaking, the First 150 Years" by Middendorf (Smithsonian Institution Press) has 115 prints dating before 1820 in America including works by Paul Revere, Charles Wilson Peale, Amos Doolittle, and Savage. THE FRENCH POSTER by Abdy (Clarkson Potter) shows 16 color and 112 black and white pictures from the 1890s. Art nouveau, Mucha, Grasset, Cheret, and others are included.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

South neglected to perform that simple chore in this deal, and, in the end, it cost him the contract. West led the A-K-Q of hearts, South ruffing the third one as East discarded a diamond.

Declarer entered dummy with a club and finessed the queen of diamonds. The queen lost to the king and West continued with the ten of hearts, East shedding his last diamond.

South was now in deep trouble. When he led the ace of diamonds in an effort to trump his diamond losers in dummy, East ruffed and that was the end of the hand. Down one.

When the play is examined, it can be seen that the diamond finesse was totally unnecessary. True enough, it might have enabled declarer to make an overtrick if East had the king, but South should have been much more concerned about making four than five.

As soon as dummy appeared, declarer could have counted five trump tricks as well as three tricks in diamonds and clubs. All he needed to make the contract, therefore, was to ruff two diamonds in dummy. He had the necessary high trumps in dummy to overcome the possibility of East's over-ruffing, and the diamond finesse was consequently a snare and a delusion.

At trick four South should have cashed the ace of diamonds, then played another diamond to pave the way for later diamond ruffs.

Teenage Weight and Complexion Problems Milk Can Help Make Your Diet Work

Hunger pains make it very difficult for most people to stick to a diet. When your brain sends hunger signals to your stomach, it's almost impossible to think about anything else but food. Low blood sugar is what triggers hunger signals in the brain. The best way to turn off hunger signals and keep them off is to eat protein. Protein can keep hunger pangs away longer because it's metabolized more slowly than sugar. One of the best sources of protein is milk. Fairmont low fat Mighty-2* is an excellent milk for dieters to drink. It's extra high in protein (contains 20% more than ordinary milk.) And Mighty-2 is packed with the vitamins and minerals a body needs to stay healthy. The next time you diet, drink plenty of Fairmont Mighty-2 fortified low fat milk. It can help you stick to your diet by subduing hunger pains. The National Dairy Council recommends teenagers drink at least four glasses of milk a day.

MISS KATHRYN PETERS

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. J. Peters of Deshler make announcement this morning of the engagement of their daughter, Kathryn Ann, to A.1c. Dennis D. Degenhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Degenhardt of Hebron.

A late July wedding is planned.

Miss Peters is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is majoring in speech and hearing therapy.

Mr. Degenhardt is a graduate of the Nebraska Vocational Technical School at Milford, and currently is stationed at McCord Air Force Base at Tacoma, Wash.

Organizations Plan Activities

Mrs. L. F. Seaton, 3175 Woodsdale Blvd. will be hostess at her home Wednesday evening when she entertains the members of Chapter DX, PEO, at their regular meeting. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and highlighting the evening's activities will be a program on the "International Peace Scholarship" to be presented by Mrs. Robert Hans.

The members of the Soroptimist Club of Lincoln will observe the 17th anniversary of the club's charter at a dinner meeting which will take place Wednesday evening at the Hotel Radisson-Cornhusker beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The Lincoln chapter of the organization received its charter on March 7, 1953.

Robert Terpsma was installed as the president of Parents Without Partners (PWP) at the organization's installation banquet held Saturday, March 21, at the Lincoln Hotel.

PWP is an international, nonprofit, non-sectarian educational organization devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. The Lincoln chapter is in its fourth active year, and it has a membership of 110 divorced, widowed or legally separated parents.

The club's next activity will be a Family Easter Egg Hunt and picnic which will take place on Saturday afternoon, March 28, at Peter Pan Park beginning at 3 o'clock. Prospective members are invited to attend any of the organization's activities. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Jane Steele or Mrs. Rosa Zicafoose.

A joint meeting of the Frances Willard and University Place Woman's Christian Temperance Unions will be held Wednesday afternoon, March 25, in the west vestry room of the First Methodist Church, 50th and St. Paul.

The program for the 1:30 o'clock meeting will be presented by the children of the kindergarten, first and second grades at the Lincoln Christian School. Teachers in charge of the program are Mrs. Cecil Murray and Mrs. Alan Converse.

Mrs. Betty Mitchell of Elmwood will present a demonstration and refreshments will be served. Visitors are welcome to attend.

The members of Sigma and Beta Conclaves of Kappa Kappa Iota sorority were hostesses at a spring party which took place Friday evening, March 20, at the First Federal Savings and Loan party room. Attending the festivities were the members of Alpha, Gamma, Theta and Tau Conclaves of Kappa Kappa Iota, and their guests.

State Commission OKs Building Plans

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Building Commission Tuesday gave its approval on final construction plans for the estimated $12 million State Office Building and set bid openings for May 14.

The commission's action is subject to concurring approval of the Legislature's office building committee, headed by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly.

Warner indicated his committee would meet next week to consider final plans and the proposed bid date.

Five Full Weeks

Architect Bill Fenton said reproduction of plans and bid specificatons would take 10 days, giving contractors a full five weeks to prepare bids before the May 14 deadline.

The seven-story office building will be located on the west side of 15th between L and M, approximately one block north of the State Capitol.

A 450-car parking garage, estimated at $1.5 million, is proposed for the east side of 15th, facing the new State Office Building.

$720,000 Appraisal

However, this plan is contingent upon acquisition of the Scottish Rite Temple and adjoining property, appraised at $720,000 by an independent appraisal firm, R. C. Wolters and Associates.

The commission gave its approval of the property's acquisition, subject to concurrance of the Legislature's building committee.

If the Scottish Rite property is not acquired, the parking garage would then be located on the north half of the block, facing Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

To Check Plans

In other action, the commission agreed to restudy in consultation with the Legislature's building committee a revision of plans for the new State Health-Agriculture Laboratory at 14th and Burnham.

Administrative Services Director Robert McManus said present thinking is to include a State Crime Laboratory in the structure, suggesting that "original plans be scrapped and we start over with new ones."

He also said health officials found the architect didn't follow their recommendations for the laboratory design for the building which is to be located near the Department of Roads and State Patrol complex.

Federal Aid

McManus said the 1969 Legislature appropriated $800,000 for the structure, but an estimated $240,000 in federal "safe streets" funds might be obtained for the crime lab portion.

The crime lab would be operated by the health department, fulfilling a "neutral agency" function as well permitting interchange of technicians between health and crime work.

The commission was also advised that three states, North and South Dakota and Wyoming, have indicated interest in utilizing the proposed Nebraska crime lab on a contractual basis.

'Tied Down'

An Agriculture Department representative urged the state laboratory building be located near the State Capitol, but the commission was advised the 14th and Burnham site was "tied down" in the appropriation bill.

The commission took under study a proposal of the Lincoln Garden Club for beautification of the area east of the Kennard Statehood Memorial House.

The area is now used for a state motor vehicle parking lot.

Army Is Africanized

London (AP) — The Anglican Church Army, a body of uniformed evangelists, is Africanizing its work in East Africa by naming the Rev. Crispus Nzano as general secretary in Kenya. He succeeds Capt. J. Ball, who introduced the Church Army to Kenya in 1956.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Up with the monster retriever pup and the twittering birds these sunny mornings. Once more unto the breach, dear friends, once more. (A little coffee first, though, if you please.)

The household rises rumbling and grumbling. Like a car starting on a cold morning. "What time is it?"

Up and discovering a new rose in the garden.

The morning has begun at Shady Acres. ("Low down payment. Spectacular view" — by pulling a box over to the bathroom window and standing on it.)

☆ ☆ ☆

"The early bird gets the worm," said my grandfather. He rose at dawn. Splashed in the tub while singing hymns — "Jesus is my Sa-vior."

He was not overly religious. He simply liked to sing.

He was raised on an Illinois farm in what was called a God-fearing family. Meaning they went to church Sundays. Said grace before meals. And great grandmother had the preacher in once a month for fried chicken dinner.

It was hellfire and damnation futures that came down from the pulpit on Sunday. People in those sleepy Bible belt towns wanted their religion strong.

"Those who follow the rule will be called up Higher," said grandma. "And the others will go Below."

☆ ☆ ☆

With God to be feared on all sides, you would think people would turn gloomy. But no. They were a cheerful bunch.

They had earthy jokes. Everybody could laugh at them because they had been told so often.

On holidays my grandfather would ask a blessing on our dinner.

Then he would hold the carving knife over the turkey and ask: "Who gets the part-that-went-over-the-fence-last?"

Everybody giggled. They said my grandfather should be ashamed of himself.

Grandfather was pleased. He told the story of the hired girl and the drummer — that was what they called a traveling salesman.

☆ ☆ ☆

My grandfather got up at six. He shaved with a straight razor.

He went out to the kitchen and said: "Nothing like the smell of coffee in the morning."

He was a coffee wholesaler. He brought men home to dinner who spoke familiarly about their homes in Brazil which was much farther away in those days.

He inspected the pan of frying bacon. He said he guessed he would have a piece of mince pie, too.

He grabbed grandma and kissed her. He said mince pie was the very thing for breakfast. He said to give me some, too.

He said he felt bully.

At his office he had a round table that revolved. There were small brass scales in the center.

He sat there with other coffee men. They tasted coffee in little cups, swinging the table around so that different coffees could be compared.

They were dignified looking men. High stiff collars. Tailored suits. They wore gold watch chains across their vests.

Each seat had a polished brass cuspidor alongside. They tasted the coffee and spit it out. They made notes about the roast and where the coffee came from.

☆ ☆ ☆

Grandfather was a Republican. He was against the free silver policies of William Jennings Bryan. He admired Theodore Roosevelt. He had no use for Socialism. Democrats didn't do much better either, he said.

He believed in hard work and the gold standard. He was against liquor and gambling and people who didn't get up early and get a good start on the day.

He said: "If you get to work by eight, you've got most of it done by noon. Then you've got the afternoon to get ahead of the other fellow."

CARMICHAEL

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Wednesday

Many born under Taurus are going through a difficult period. They will survive as much stronger persons, materially and spiritually.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Control tendency to take chance with valuables. You may want to spend too much, too soon. Accent on financial prospects. But realize a middleman is involved. Check documents.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Lie low; play waiting game. You have more strength than might be realized. Follow intuitive feeling. Many who attempt to advise you may themselves be misinformed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Light tough wins. Don't attempt to force issues. Look to future. Refuse to be discouraged by one who sings song of gloom. Maintain self-esteem. Adhere to health rules.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some of your emotional convictions may be due for a shakeup — you undergo change. That's fine if you realize that there is no need for self-pity. Accept. Ride with the tide.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Choice may have to be made between home and career. This can be done without making a big issue. Simply open lines of communication—then relationship will flourish.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Avoid unnecessary travel. Attend to basic issues. But stick to regulations. No time to flaunt authority. Many are on your side. But you must co-operate by being patient.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Financial picture needs reviewing. Get proper perspective. You have recently received some advice which may not be based on facts. Seek reality. Face issues as they actually exist.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Apply some self-discipline. Live up to potential. You should accept added responsibility. There will be greater rewards. Lover's quarrel can be settled.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some are drawn to you for sake of confiding problems. Be sympathetic without getting involved. Means help those who are willing to aid themselves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A new look would be beneficial. Change from status quo. Stress greater amount of independence. Friends may quarrel. Don't get caught in middle.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Meet challenge. Accept assignment. One who has had experience will help — if you ask. Don't permit pride to block progress. Your hunch could pay dividends.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Some long range plans require a better communications setup. Know this — take appropriate steps. Be versatile. Refuse to accept superficial indications.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are spiritual, know wha is best for you. But you often sacrifice your own interests to aid others. Currently, you may be carrying a burden not rightfully your own. Pay heed to hard facts which soon are to be revealed.

Matzke Pledges Visits

Stanley Matzke Jr. of Lincoln Tuesday promised, if elected secretary of state, to visit all 93 counties to "gather citizen views on governmental reform."

Matzke said he would then share those views and recommendations with the governor and members of the Legislature.

Matzke, 36, assistant director of resident instruction at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, is a Democratic candidate for secretary of state.

If elected, he said, he would "endeavor to systematically explain what state government is, and what it is not, to the people of the state."

Matzke said he also would volunteer his services to both the governor and the Legislature for use in "attracting more and better job opportunities for the people."

The people, he said, "want and deserve a more responsive state government."

Some Nebraskans Who Have Traded Cars May Get Refunds

By The Associated Press

Nebraskans who have traded automobiles with individuals other than regular automobile dealers in the past three years have become eligible for refunds on part of the sales taxes they have paid.

An attorney general's opinion has led to a change in sales taxing policy which has prevailed since the Nebraska state sales tax came into being in June of 1967, the tax commissioner's office confirmed Tuesday.

The new policy makes an automobile trade between individuals subject to the same sales tax application as occurs when a person trade with a regular auto dealer.

Heretofore, when individuals traded automobiles with each other, each paid the sales tax on the fair market value of the vehicle acquired. In contrast, a person trading with a dealer paid sales tax only on the price difference. In the future, the latter policy will apply also to individual trades.

Deputy Tax Commissioner Elmer Hermes said notices of the policy change, and the fact the retroactive application of the policy makes persons involved eligible for refunds, have gone to county treasurers over the state.

Persons seeking the refunds will be required to provide proof by payment of the sales tax under the now invalidated policy.

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer's opinion, prepared for Tax Commissioner Murreli B. McNeil, said "we are unable to find any statutory authorization" for handling transactions between individuals differently from transactions between an auto dealer and a customer.

"We can readily understand why you would take such a position, and there is theoretical justification for feeling that this is the way in which it should be handled, because when a dealer receives a car as a trade-in, he will eventually sell it to someone else, and the sales tax will then be paid. This is not necessarily true when the cars are exchanged between non-dealers. However, we are bound by the provisions of the statutes, and we believe the provisions of the statutes do not permit this result."

Hermes said there are no available statistics to indicate the number of Nebraskans who might be eligible for refunds under the rule change, or amount of tax involved.

State Unemployment Drops

Unemployment declined in Nebraska from 2.4% to 2.3% during the year ended last June 30, according to figures released Tuesday by the State Labor Department's Division of Employment.

According to the division's annual report to the governor, the average number of job seekers dropped from 15,300 during fiscal 1968 to 15,100 during fiscal 1969.

Agriculture employment dropped by 5,000 from the previous year, while government agencies added 2,800 workers, largely in public education.

Manufacturing employment and trade employment in the nonagricultural and salary sector for each increased by 3,700 workers.

County Purchasing Unit Proposed

Republican candidate for Lancaster County Commissioner from the second district, Robert Colin, proposed Tuesday a central purchasing department for the county.

"It is impossible to have a successful operation and save money when a dozen or more people of one organization have the authority to purchase supplies and services at their own discretion," he said.

He cited the city purchasing department as an example of "a very efficient operation for many years."

He said Lancaster County's present system of competitive bidding for supplies and services rendered to the county is "about as obsolete as the milking stool."

Randolph Voters OK School Bond

Randolph (AP) — Voters in the Randolph School District Tuesday balloted 666-175 in favor of a $695,000 school bond issue.

School Supt. Neil Kluver said $390,000 of the money will go for the purchase of the St. Francis Catholic school which will close at the end of the current school year.

The remainder of the funds will finance construction of an addition to the school.

Kluver said the district will take title to the St. Francis building on July 1. Work on the addition will begin April 15, he said.

Stock Market's Gains Sizeable

New York (AP) — The stock market, bolstered by hopes of easier credit and of a solution to the postal strike, turned in its best performance Tuesday in almost a month.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials Tuesday spurted 10.16 points to 773.76. That was the largest advance since Feb. 27 when the average rose 13.14 points.

"What you're seeing here," said one analyst, "is an ebullience from the drop in short-term interest rates and from the expectation that the postal strike is going to be settled."

He was referring to a sharp decline in short-term interest rates Monday. The drop could be preliminary to a lowering of the prime rate by banks. That is the interest that banks charge their most creditworthy corporate borrowers.

Tight money has held the market down for several months.

The hopes of a solution to the strike were apparently based on reports that many striking workers were returning to work.

The strike had helped to lower the volume to 7.33 million shares Monday, the lowest since Dec. 26. Volume rose to 8.83 million shares Tuesday, still a low level by Wall Street standards.

Gainers led losers 827 to 449.

Of the 1,569 issues traded on the Big Board Tuesday, 65 touched new 197 lows while 22 reached new highs.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 3.0 to 273.4. Industrials were up 6.2, rails up .8 and utilities, up .8.

The most-active Big Board issue was McLouth Steel, off 1⅛ at 23⅞ on a volume of 145,200 shares. A 138,700-share block of the issue, the largest block of the session, traded at 23½.

The number of blocks of 10,000 or more shares on the New York Stock Exchange rose to 54 from 29 Monday.

The American Stock Exchange price change index increased .08 to 24.60. Advances led declines 429 to 351. Volume rose to 2.34 million shares from 2.3 million shares Monday.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Economic Time Lag Extent May Affect Fall Elections

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Precision Impossible

The extent of the time lag between application of restrictive fiscal and monetary controls and actual tapering off of inflation may have repercussions on the fall congressional elections.

"Fine tuning" is beyond the present state of knowledge. There is no evidence that economic managers at Washington can intentionally precisely time economic trends to give optimum political advantage to the party in office.

Historically, irrespective of economic trends, congressional elections in years two years from presidential contests tend to go against the administration in office.

In view of this, some economists argue that the Nixon administration is not too concerned about economic trends this autumn, but is aiming at public sentiment in 1972.

Affect Voting

Even if economic planners lack precision in timing, there is evidence that economic trends — whether fortuitous or planned — affect voting preferences. This seemed clearly to be the case in the November 1960 Presidential election when John F. Kennedy beat Richard M. Nixon by a tiny fraction, while a minor downtrend was in progress.

It is by no means clear that the Washington planners have given up on a turn-around in time for the November elections. On the contrary, President Nixon's unfreezing of federally financed construction is a harbinger of interest. The educated guesses at the nation's capital expect the managed slowdown in business and employment to continue until the end of the second quarter, with unemployment climbing, physical production declining, and profits being further squeezed.

But these observers expect to see daylight at midyear, with a moderate upturn in volume of business. The magic which is expected to usher in the change, subject to a time lag, is an anticipated modification by the Federal Reserve of the extreme tight money situation, with special efforts made to improve housing starts by stimulating the supply of mortgage funds. Higher Social Security distributions and reduced withholding taxes are mentioned in connection with the expected turnabout.

If this view proves correct, there will be a quickening pace by autumn, and, if the forecast is realized, it will have an effect on voting sentiment.

President's Fate

Of course, from the standpoint of the fate of President Nixon in 1972, it would be a major blunder to make premature efforts to mitigate the disinflation, and have the overheated troubles flare up again prior to 1972.

It should be recalled that in mid-1968 after former President Johnson had belatedly induced Congress to pass the restraining surtax, the Federal Reserve, fearing "overkill" in the battle against inflation, offset much of the remedial anti-inflationary impact of the surtax by substantial monetary easement. This added to the momentum of inflation, and intensifies the current difficulty of reversing the trend in the cost of living. By the middle of 1969, the Federal Reserve went the other way, and created a tight money situation with a zero rate of growth. The next step is expected to be moderate and restrained easement.

While the unofficial polls are favorable at present toward the administration, the real test will come in the November balloting. Public attitude will be measured by whether the Republicans make significant gains in both houses of Congress.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Who Deserves Class A?

Some time within the next few months a decision will have to be made by the Nebraska School Activities Association as to the 1971 site for the State Class A Basketball Tournament.

And that decision will not be an easy one to make. The two cities generally mentioned in regard to it are Omaha and Lincoln, but neither in recent years has shown that it deserves it.

Omaha's Chamber of Coommerce officials have shown a great deal of enthusiasm for the affair, but the Omaha pluses stop there. The Omaha populace has shown a lack of ability in handling problems of any gathering of more than two people.

Meanwhile Lincoln police under the guidance of Chief Joe Carroll has shown it can handle any crowd problems that have arisen and the veteran university staff that runs things at the NU Coliseum is experienced in running any sports event.

But the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce continues to sit on its hands, showing little tangible evidence of real interest in any of the sports events that attract so many people and so much business to the Capital City.

With the possible exception of the conventions committee, there is no branch of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce that has more to do with bringing spending crowds to the Capital City than the sports and recreation committee.

Budget For One Event

That committee is involved in a pro bowling tournament, a state high school basketball tournament, a state high school wrestling championship, frequently a state high school swimming championship, occasionally a state high school track championship, a state high school gymnastic championship, high school championships in tennis and golf, national AAU wrestling and swimming championships and a July 4th fireworks display.

Yet that committee was given a budget this year of $650 by the tightwads who benefit monetarily from all these activities.

In case you don't know how far $650 goes these days, it goes far enough to stage a one-night buffet and refreshment affair for coaches and officials during the basketball tourney.

To put on a similar fete this year for the wrestling coaches and officials, the University of Nebraska and the Junior Chamber of Commerce chipped in to make the city look less than tight-waddish.

Any other expenses with the above mentioned activities means begging on the part of sports and recreation committee members.

If events were to be granted on the basis of chamber of commerce interest, the City of Lincoln would be lucky to get a vote for an Easter egg hunt.

Nothing For Kids

Meanwhile, Omaha's Chamber sponsored a luncheon with a name speaker, gave each of the participants a team picture and other mementoes as a remembrance of their trip to a state championship event.

But those youngsters playing for the state championship deserved to play before more than 4,000 fans and that's a minus for Nebraska's largest city.

If you could combine the Omaha Chamber's efforts with the fan interest and crowd control you have in Lincoln, the NSAA decision would be an easy one.

Omaha hardly deserves the state tourney if it can't get more than 4,000 fans to show up. But Lincoln hardly deserves any thing either unless it's Chamber of Commerce gets off its hands and shows some interest.

Lincoln has lost Class A. It has lost the state track meet. And it's going to lose more and more things unless it wakes up and starts showing some appreciation for what it's got. It lost those first two things because it took them for granted.

Our chamber of commerce is spending several thousands of dollars this summer to bring in a religious convention that might come here once every 20 years, but it's doing little to keep what it once had on an annual basis.

Devils Nest Project May Finally Become Reality

. . . RECREATION AREA PLAN REVITALIZED AFTER NEARLY A DECADE

Omaha — A multi-million dollar recreation project in Northeast Nebraska which began nearly a decade ago may finally become a reality this spring.

The Devil's Nest project, first introduced to the public in 1962 but nearly forgotten as its development dragged, was brought back into focus here Tuesday by Nebraska Gov. Norbert Tiemann and 26 other state officials and project sponsors who attended a news conference to announce plans for the area at Lewis and Clark Lake.

Gov. Tiemann said the area will be developed to become one of the Midwest's largest and most complete all-seasons recreation complexes.

"When completed the total development will comprise more than 3000 acres and cost more than 100 million dollars. This project is a major contribution in keeping people in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota and attracting industry to this area," the governor said.

The area has been one of the midwest's favoriae camping, hunting and picnicking spots. Devils Nest derived its name because of the rugged terrain and the historical background as the hideout of Jesse James and other renegades, outlaws and cattle rustlers in the latter part of the 1800s.

The resort will open this spring with the construction of the first of three marinas, a yacht club, hotel condominiums, and a subdivision with sewers, water, power, telephones and paved access roads, Tiemann said. The subdivision will include single family home sites, condominium and townhouse sites and multiple use lots, including lots for mobile homes.

Ultimately, Devils Nest will include restaurant, hotel and motel accomodations, an 18-hole golf course, tennis and yacht clubs, hiking and bridal trails, a hunting preserve, ski runs and ski lodges, snowmobile courses, ice skating and ice fishing and other marine facilities.

Don E. Dixon, a Lincoln realtor, is president of Devils Nest Development Company. Robert C. Guenzel, a Lincoln attorney, and John W. Alloway, president of IMS Management Corporation in Lincoln, are vice presidents.

Former Gov. Robert Crosby, general counsel of Devils Nest Development Company, announced that the company had selected Golden Valley Land Corporation of Phoenix, Ariz., as the marketing and management firm to develop and market the entire project.

Golden Valley is one of the oldest and largest developers in the southwest. The company has sold in excess of 70 million dollars worth of home, apartment and recreational sites, business and industrial tracts.

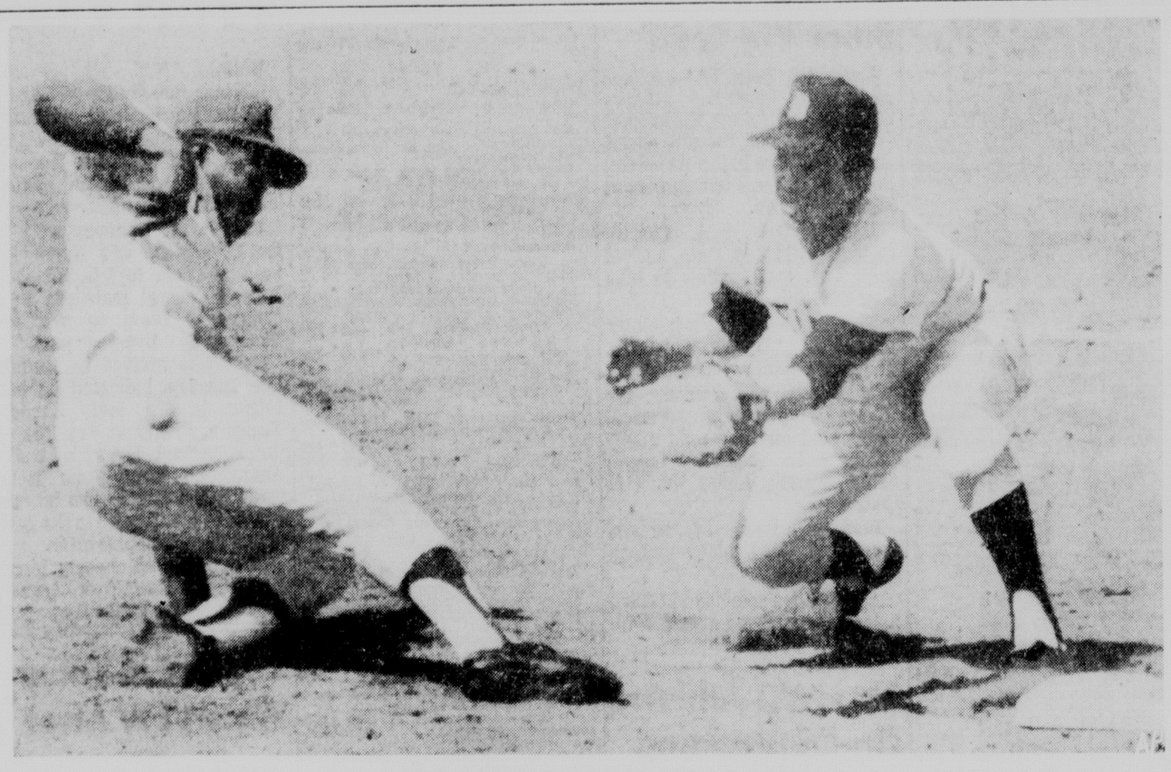
Alex Crutchfield, executive vice president of Golden Valley, stated that after 12 months of intensive study of economic and enigneering reports, architectual plans, market surveys and physical requirements, that his company feels Devils Nest will be the most complete recreational facility in the Midwest.

Crutchfield added: "The development team we put together for this project is the finest group of professionals we could find."

The financial analysis has been done by Kenneth Leventhal & Co. of Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles. Flatow-Moore-Bryan & Fairburn of Phoenix, Ariz., will do the architectual planning. Advertising and public relations will be handled by Don Frank & Associates of Los Angeles. The Omaha firm of Gollenhon, Schemmer & Associates will be the engineers. Golden Valley will assign its top marketing personnel to the project.

There will be a large number of local people hired because Devils Nest is a local company and a major portion of the money involved in this project will be spent in the tri-state area, Crutchfield said.

COUGARS THREATEN RAIDS



PICKOFF ATTEMPT FAILS

The Philadelphia Phillies' Tony Taylor safely gets back to second on a pickoff attempt. Taylor had doubled in the second inning against the Detroit Tigers. Tiger shortstop Cesar Gutierrez is covering the bag, but the ball hit Taylor in the hip and he was safe. (Story, Page 32.)

NBA's Stars May Get Call

. . . IF HAWKS GET PETE

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Jim Gardner, president of the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association, is threatening to "raid" established stars from the Atlanta Hawks if the National Basketball Association team manages to sign Pistol Pete Maravich, two Atlanta newspapers reported Tuesday.

"If we don't get the kid, we're going to take the money and call Lou Hudson or Walt Hazzard or both of them," Gardner was quoted as telling The Atlanta Constitution.

"Yes sir, it's going to be real interesting . . . to see how the Hawk players react to this thing," Gardner said.

"If I were Hazzard or Hudson, on a championship team, I think I might feel a little strongly about the owner saying he will pay a fantastic amount of money to an untried college player," Gardner was quoted as saying in The Atlanta Journal.

"Sounds to me," Hazzard said Tuesday, "like they are losing Maravich over there and just making a lot of mouth noise."

The Hawks drafted Maravich, a three-time All-American at Louisiana State, in the NBA draft Monday, stunning everybody.

Maravich was the third collegian picked in the draft, with Atlanta, the NBA Western Division champion, getting the No. 3 choice in the trade that sent Zelmo Beaty to the San Francisco Warriors. The Warriors were the apparent losers, since Beaty insists he'll play with Los Angeles of the ABA.

Maravich was considered definitely headed for the Cougars, who drafted him No. 1 in January.

But Richie Guerin, the Atlanta coach, said the Hawks believed they had a good chance at getting the all-time scoring king in major college basketball.

"If we didn't feel that way," Guerin said, "we wouldn't have drafted him."

"We are going to do everything possible to get him signed," said Marty Blake, general manager of the Hawks. "We know for certain he has not signed with the other league. We've been in touch with his attorneys, though not with Pete himself."

Blake said the Hawks will make Maravich "an offer we feel is fair and extend every effort from there."

East Is Baseball Team To Beat

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

After all the other high school baseball coaches in the Capital City tabbed East as the team to beat this spring, Spartan mentor Rudy Stoehr observed that "thinking you'll win and doing it are two different things."

East returns an all-letterman team from a year ago. "With one exception they've all played together since their sophomore year," Stoehr admits, "but you can bet we'll get plenty of argument from the other teams in the city." Barry Blue, Mark Mitchell and Milan Steube head Stoehr's mound staff, with Scott Levey scheduled to handle the catching duties.

John Crose and Stan Hegener give East two lettermen first basemen, with Ross Stephenson at second, shortstop Kevin Gemmel and Kent Mahoney at third rounding out the veteran infield.

Defending district champion Lincoln High finds itself in a rebuilding year under coach Buford Grosscup. The Links have but a single returning letterman in infielder Rick Grell.

But Lincoln High, with a long-standing tradition as a baseball power, is expected to field another strong nine as Grosscup calls on the talents of a fine reserve team of a year ago.

Northeast, under the tutelage of LeRoy Seng, played against the Links in the district finals last year, dropping a close 4-3 decision in the championship clash.

"We'll be making some major shifts," Seng acknowledged. "One will be to bring Maury Damkroger behind the plate from his first base position."

Seng has two other lettermen back, shortstop Tom Novak and third baseman Jim Smith. "We'll have to find a replacement for Dan Cook, who was the all-city sceond baseman," Seng said, "and of course we'll have to find some pitching."

John Logan, Dave Wolfe and Doug Landstrom, all up from the reserves, will be counted on to carry the bulk of the mound duty.

Southeast coach Charlie Gordon greeted eight letter winners at his opening practice sessions, giving the veteran Knights' mentor a good nucleus around which to build.

All-city third baseman Bob McIntyre heads the list. Other infield veterans returning are first baseman Randy Gordon, and the double-play combination of second baseman Brad Keller and shortstop Pat Nelson.

Stan Stone is Gordon's lone pitching letterman returnee, but three outfielders with experience are on hand. They are Bob Martens, Jerry Lutz and Greg Chase.

"With just one pitcher back," Gordon said, "our big search will be for some help for Stone. Then we have to find a battery mate to catch them. That is our weakest link at the moment."

Pius X basketball coach Don Kelley has added the diamond duties since John Rotter became the school's principal.

"We had a turnout of about 25 boys," Kelley reports, "including eight lettermen. We'll have an experienced player at most positions. With a lot of hard work I hope we can be a contending factor."

Though all-city pitcher Gary Walker will be missed, Jack Flaherty and Mike Rowan are both back to handle the pitching chores, with topflight catcher John Louden also returning.

Dennis Shibata, who was the all-city utility infielder, Dan McGovern and Dennis Butler will anchor the Thunderbolts infield.

Larry Jablonski and Tom Millard are Kelley's two lettermen outfielders.

East gets a jump on the other nines with a game slated Friday against Elmwood. The Spartans then meet Pius next Tuesday, with the other clubs getting into the act right after the first of April.

—HAWKS, LAKERS, BUCKS FAVORED—

Big Men Center Attraction In Tonight's NBA Playoffs

tBy the Associaed Press

The acquisition of Walt Bellamy, the return of Wilt Chamberlain and the ever present Lew Alcindor make the Atlanta Hawks, Los Angeles Lakers and Milwaukee Bucks the heavy favorites as the playoffs of the National Basketball Association open tonight.

Atlanta hosts the Chicago Bulls, the Bucks entertain the Philadelphia 76ers in Madison, Wis., and the Lakers take on the Phoenix Suns in Los Angeles in the start of the best-of-7 series.

The New York Knicks, with Most Valuable Player Willis Reed at center, begin their set against the Baltimore Bullets Thursday night in New York.

Bellamy, Chamberlain, Alcindor and Reed are certainly the centers of attraction, whether for their presence or their absence, just like Bill Russell, whose retirement left the defending champion Boston Celtics out of the playoffs for the first time in 20 years.

With the acquisition of the 6-foot-11 Bellamy from Detroit Feb. 1, the Hawks moved to the Western Division title with a 48-34 record. Big Walt, happy to be playing on a big winner for the first time, replaced departed center Zelmo Beaty and rookie Jimmy Davis. The Hawks, 32-26 without him, were 16-8 with him as he averaged 15.5 points and 13.5 rebounds per game, well above the 10.0 and seven he compiled sitting around with Detroit.

LEW ALCINDOR

The Lakers finished only two games behind the Hawks despite the loss of 7-2 Wilt Chamberlain for 70 games. The Lakers were 39-31 without him after going 5-4 before he was injured Nov. 7. He returned for the last three games — the Lakers won two — and there is no doubt that his presence makes them a threat to go all the way.

Alcindor, of course, has been with the Bucks all year. He turned them from a last place team into a runnerup behind the Knicks in the Eastern Division with his 28.8 point average, 14.6 rebounds and dominating defense.

Each team has its standout backcourt man to complement the domineering centers — the Hawks have Lou Hudson and his 25.4 average, the Lakers have Jerry West and his league leading 31.2 and the Bucks have Flynn Robinson and his 22.0.

The Bulls finished in a tie with Phoenix for third place in the West, but won a coin toss for the third place playoff spot.

Reed, 22.2 and 14.1, helped make the Knicks a 60-22 team, along with guard Walt Frazier, 20.

Philadelphia plays the second game at Madison Friday night, the Bulls play at Atlanta Saturday night and the Suns are in Los Angeles Sunday night before the teams switch cities for the third and fourth games. They alternate for the final three games, if necessary, with the series going as late as April 10.

The Knicks play at Baltimore in their second game Friday night, alternating every game. Their Sunday game will be nationally televised.

The semifinal winners in the West and those in the East play each other in two more best-of-7 sets, and those two victors clash for the NBA title in a final best-of-7 series.

Restraints Against Pilot Sale Promised To Be Lifted Today

Seattle (AP) — Federal bankruptcy referee Sidney Volinn will sign an order today lifting all restraints to sell the Seattle Pilots to a Milwaukee group so he can decide on the merits of that sale at a hearing March 30, special Washington Asst. Atty. Gen. William Dwyer said Tuesday.

Dwyer's explanation came after Volinn continued the case of the financially-troubled Pilots until today at 10 a.m.

Volinn said during a hearing marked by passionate statements by both sides that his primary concern was with the Pilots organization, which had put itself in his hands under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act.

He said it was "incumbent on this court to keep open for consideration the offer of the Milwaukee group, which comes before us March 30."

Volinn said that while various arguments were put forth to keep the club in Seattle, nobody had come forward with a plan to save it financially.

The Milwaukee group, meanwhile, already has entered into an agreement to buy the club for $108 million.

The deal would be closeable April 30 and would offer means for Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., owner of the Pilots to pay its creditors.

"Every way we turn," Volinn said, "we have an assured $108 million offer from Milwaukee. If we don't take that, we have nothing."

Volinn stressed that he was not saying he would approve sale of the club to Milwaukee. He said his primary responsibility in this case was to Pacific Northwest Sports, and that he had to be free of other court entanglements to decide what would be best for the Pilots and the creditors.

Alfred Schweppe, the Seattle lawyer whose injunctions and retainers stopped the American League from approving sale of the franchise, said about the situation:

"The solution is to make the American League honest."

He said the league should be made to fulfill its commitments concerning financing the team during the 1970 season.

Dwyer said Volinn's action would not affect the various damage suits against the American League and the Pilots. Those suits total more than $82 million. He did concede, however, that the Pilots apparently were Milwaukee-bound unless someone came forward with at least as good an offer before a move.

That seemed highly unlikely.

Earlier, the secretary-treasurer of the Pilots testified that the club is losing $12,500 a day and is in a "catastrophic" financial situation.

Twin Bill Opener Split By Plainsmen

Salina, Kan. — Nebraska Wesleyan launched its 1970 baseball season by splitting a double header with Kansas Wesleyan here Tuesday afternoon. The Plainsmen won the opener, 3-0, and lost the second game, 6-5, in extra innings.

Nebraska Wesleyan will continue its current road trip by playing a double header at Lindsborg today against Bethany College.

Arthur Ashe's Victory 'Empty'

. . . BANNING OF SOUTH AFRICANS 'SAD, BUT JUST'

By The Associated Press

Melbourne, Australia (AP) — Arthur Ashe, Jr., whose exclusion from the South African Tennis Championships resulted in the banishment of South Africa from the 1970 Davis Cup competition, said Tuesday he felt he had gained "an empty victory."

"I will get about five minutes of emotional satisfaction," the slender Negro star from Richmond, Va., said here before presenting a $560 check to the Yooralla Hospital for Crippled Children. The money was proceeds from a tennis exhibition.

Ashe called the decision by a seven-man committee of the Davis Cup nations to bar the apartheid South Africans "a sad but just decision."

The move was triggered by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association after Ashe had been denied a visa to enter South Africa and compete in the South African Open, starting in Johannesburg Tuesday.

The Davis Cup ban virtually completes an international ban against the South Africans in major sports because of the country's racial policies. They had been barred from the 1968 Olympic Games and the World Cup Soccer Tournament this year in Mexico City.

Ashe, who won the Australian Open championship earlier this year, expressed no bitterness toward the South Africans for their attitude and said he would apply again to play tennis in that country.

"I would rather see South Africa change its ways instead of seeing them excluded from the Davis Cup," he said. "As they didn't change their ways, I suppose this was the only outcome."

In applying for a South African visa, Ashe had promised to refrain from political remarks during his stay in the country.

Reactions to the Davis Cup action varied around the world. Dr. Christian Barnard, the pioneer heart surgeon from Johannesburg, called the action "sad" and said the seven nations which banned South Africa should first put their own houses in order. He made his comments in London.

Earl "Butch" Buchholz of St. Louis, a U.S. pro player, said: "Eventually South Africa will be excluded from every sport . . . Financially, it is no longer feasible to have South Africans competing in international contests. It means police protection, danger to spectators, players."

While some observers predicted that the ban would spread to the International Lawn Tennis Federation, barring South Africa from all international competition, Owen Williams, the promoter of the South African Open, predicted South Africa would return to Davis Cup play.

"It may take a year, it may take five years," Williams, who was director of the U.S. Open Championships last year at Forest Hills, said in Johannesburg.

He said the expulsion was not a judicial one. "In the strict letter of the law, South Africa was blameless," he added.

Donald Dell, former U.S. Davis Cup captain and currently Ashe's attorney, said in Bethesda, Md., that Ashe's application to play in South Africa was intended to bring the issue to a head.

"Either they would let Arthur play, or this would come about," Dell said.

Ashe said he did not foresee any change in the South African position. "It is unfortunate that politics are a part of any sport in any country because of the human nature factor," he said.

Ecoffey Defending At Fonner

Grand Island — Fred Ecoffey, last year's leading jockey, continued defense of that title as Fonner Park began its first full week of the 1970 race meet Tuesday, winning one race, while placing second two other times and third in another race.

Ecoffey won aboard Mint Milleaux in the third race, steering the two-year-old through the four furlongs in :47 2-5. He finished with seconds in the second race aboard Hips Tips and in the fourth on Triple Springs, while adding his third place finish atop Mabern's Alibhia in the first race.

Walter Barnes was the only jockey to win two races Monday, coming out on top aboard Good Living in the fourth and Go Lover in the sixth.

Itsadude, with Merle Armstrong up, and Squad Tactics, with Felix Chavez aboard, finished one-two in the eighth race Monday, rewarding perfecta winners with a $521.40 payoff.

Boog Powell's First Homer Launches Baltimore Victory

. . . ALLEN'S FIFTH BLAST WASTED

By Associated Press

Boog Powell's first spring home run launched the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-1 victory over Montreal Tuesday but Richie Allen's fifth homer in seven exhibition games was wasted as the St. Louis Cardinals bowed to Pittsburgh 7-3.

Powell blasted a three-run homer, Dave Johnson homered for two more runs and left-hander Dave McNally checked the Expos on five hits through the first seven innings.

Jose Martinez' two-run homer and Matty Alou's three hits helped the Pirates build a commanding lead before Allen cracked a bases-empty homer in the eighth inning.

Home runs by Frank Howard and Hank Allen backed the shutout pitching of Jim Shellenback, Horacio Pina, Jan Dukes and Darold Knowles as Washington whipped Kansas City 8-0.

Tom Seaver, pitching the first six innings, limited the New York Yankees to five hits and paced the New York Mets to a 4-1 victory. Ed Kranepool rapped a two-run homer for the world champs, who hadn't won a Florida game against the Yanks since 1965.

Los Angeles exploded for nine runs in the second inning and went on to drub the Chicago White Sox 13-4. Willie Crawford, Andy Kosco and rookie Steve Garvey socked two run homers for the Dodgers.

Three runs scored on George Scott's infield hit and a throwing error by Houston third baseman Doug Rader in the third inning, carrying the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Astros.

Jim Perry and Tom Hall combined to scatter eight hits and hurl Minnesota past Cincinnati 4-0. Catcher Paul Ratliff hit a two-run homer for the Twins, who have won two in a row after dropping 14 of their first 15 exhibition starts.

Philadelphia blanked Detroit 5-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Grant Jackson and Billy Watson. Billy Williams, Glenn Beckert and Ernie Banks drove in two runs apiece as the Chicago Cubs scored seven in the third inning and held off Cleveland 10-8.

Joe Azcue's homer gave California a 2-1 nod over Seattle and San Diego slugged Oakland 15-6 behind a 15-hit barrage.

Lanier Set To Sign With Pistons Today

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — All-American Bob Lanier will sign a $1.5 million contract with the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association Wednesday, the Associated Press learned Tuesday night.

Lanier, St. Bonaventure's 6-foot-11 center, will leave his hospital room to join Ed Coil, Detroit general manager, in a conference room to pen his signature to a five-year pact.

Coil, who arrived in Buffalo late Tuesday, indicated he had Lanier in the fold. Earlier, Tuesday, President Roy Boe of the American Basketball Association New York Nets, threw in the towel when he was unable to lure Lanier to the ABA with a $2 million-plus offer.

"I've given up chasing him," Boe said in New York. Lanier, recovering from knee surgery in Buffalo General Hospital, commented:

"Maybe that makes my decision for me if they give up."

Boe said part of the Nets' offer was an interest-free 10-year loan that would enable Lanier to invest and build a large equity for himself.

"I don't know anything about it," Lanier professed.

While the 21-year-old player had refused to say with whom he wanted to play, he did say Monday there was more prestige and competition in the NBA and that he had friends in the league.

Lanier, recovering from his March 15 operation to repair torn ligaments in his right knee, was injured the day before in St. Bonaventure's victory over Villanova in the NCAA Eastern Regional finals.

Lanier was the first player chosen in Monday's NBA college player draft. The ABA had held its draft previously in secret. Lanier was the Nets' top choice.

Governor To Contact Patriots

Concord, N.H. (AP) — Gov. Walter Peterson said Tuesday New Hampshire officials have been working while Boston was talking about the Boston Patriots and has one and possibly two sites to offer the professional football club in southern New Hampshire.

At a news conference, Peterson said he has not actively sought a meeting with Patriots owner William Sullivan while negotiations were going on in Boston but, "I expect we're going to be contacted by Mr. Sullivan.

"We've been working while the discussions were going on in Boston," he said.

Omaha Duo Falls From Pin Lead

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) — A pair of Omaha bowlers —Larry Phillips and Larry Eisenhauer — were replaced Tuesday as the doubles leaders in the American Bowling Congress tournament at Knoxville, Tenn.

Bob Bensch and Charles Gregory of Toledo, Ohio, racked up a 1,354 total pinfall to take over the lead.

Phillips and Eisenhauer posted a 1,292 last Saturday. They slipped into second place.

In other competition, the Pierce Lanes team from Pierce, Neb., held on to second place among the booster teams, behind Family Lanes No. 1 of Butler, Pa.

Budwiser Beer of Omaha stayed in third place among regular teams.

And Phillips remained in third place in regular all events competition.

Doane Basketball School Schedules Three Sessions

Crete — Bob Erickson, head basketball coach at Doane College, has announced that the Doane College Summer Basketball School will be held in three sessions this year: July 5-11; Aug. 9-15; and Aug. 16-22.

Joining Erickson, who led his Doane Tigers to their sixth consecutive winning season, will be an outstanding staff of coaches. The staff will include Jerry Kroeger, top Doane assistant; Wally McNaught of Lincoln Southeast, Bill Ramsey of state champion Cozad; Roger Trumper who led his Geneva team to a top ten spot; Bill Buza of Springfield-Platteview; Tom Rine of Kearney, Bill Kropp of Aurora; Jackie Owen who led Dorchester to the state tourney; Walt Harris of Crete; and Rod Felix of Seward.

All sessions will be held at the new Fuhrer Fieldhouse on the Doane Campus. All boys who are in grade six through 12 are eligible for the school. The July session coincides with the American Cheerleading Clinic while both August camps meet at the same time as the South Shrine Football Team is in training.

For further information, inquiries should be addressed to Bob Erickson, Doane College, Crete, Nebraska 68333.

THE POSSIBLE DREAM
Country Club Village remembers the forgotten couple. The family in their 20's that isn't ready to pay a King's ransom to move into a home but still feels they deserve the advantage of the comofrtable life. Country Club Village is devoted to this couple. With attractive one and two-bedroom garden apartments (some with two baths) that feature.
Wall-to-wall carpeting and draperies. Color-coordinated General Electric appliances including a zero-degree freezer and frost-free refrigerator, deluxe range with self-timing ovens, waste disposal and dishwasher. Plenty of storage in THE APARTMENT! Individually controlled heating and air conditioning. WE PAY YOUR HEATING BILL!! Cable TV is furnished. A clubhouse with fireplace, bar and adjacent heated swimming pool — yours to use AT NO CHARGE!
The clubhouse and model apartment were distinctively decorated and furnished by CARRIAGE HOUSE FURNITURE of Omaha.
This wonderful world of living was made possible by the wonderful world of banking at the National Bank of Commerce. Live the possible dream at

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Pinball machines were introduced in Japan in 1949.

☆ ☆ ☆

Discouraged because fewer than half of parking offenders bothered to pay their tickets, Japanese police began using a ticket on a metal loop that locks on car doors or side mirrors. Since the system was instituted in Japan's six largest cities, most motorists tagged have come to police stations to pay their fines and have the tickets removed.

☆ ☆ ☆

The earliest recorded windmills are those used for grinding corn in Persia in the 7th century A.D.

☆ ☆ ☆

Silver coating of glass made possible the improved reflector telescope.

☆ ☆ ☆

The earliest dam ever built was the Sadd-al-Kafara Dam in Egypt, built in the period 2950 to 2750 B.C.

☆ ☆ ☆

The United States Forest Service has 400 smokejumpers who parachute to remote fires.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
